OCCUPANT SAFETY RESTRAINT SYSTEMS’ CONSOLIDATED AMENDED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

Plaintiffs Rebecca Lynn Morrow, Erica J. Shoaf, Tom Halverson, Sophie O’Keefe-Zelman, Stephanie Petras, Melissa Barron, Meetesh Shah, Michael J. Tracy, Keith Uehara, Jennifer Chase, Darrel Senior, James E. Marean, Ron Blau, Roger D. Olson, Roger and Susan B. Olson, Nilsa Mercado, Darcy C. Sherman, David Bernstein, Ellis Winton McInnis, IV, Thomas N. Wilson, Lauren C. Primos, Robert P. Klinger, Jessica DeCastro, Lori Curtis, Virginia Pueringer, Melissa Croom, Richard Stoehr, Edward T. Muscara, Michael Wick, Tenisha Burgos, Jason Grala, Kathleen A. Tawney, Kent Busek, Cindy Prince, Paul Gustafson, France H. Gammell-Roach, William Dale Picotte, Phillip G. Young, Jesse Powell, Alena Farrell, Jane FitzGerald, Arthur Stukey, Janne Rice, Robert M. Rice, Jr. , Stacey R. Nickell, and Carol Ann Kashishian (collectively, “Plaintiffs”), on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated

(the “Classes” as defined below), upon personal knowledge as to the facts pertaining to them and upon information and belief as to all other matters, and based on the investigation of counsel, bring this class action for damages, injunctive relief and other relief pursuant to federal antitrust laws and state antitrust, unfair competition and consumer protection laws, and the common law of unjust enrichment, demands a trial by jury, and alleges as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION

1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Defendants Autoliv, Inc., Autoliv ASP, Inc., Autoliv B.V. & Co. KG, Takata Corp., TK Holdings, Inc., Tokai Rika Co., Ltd., TRAM, Inc. d/b/a Tokai Rika U.S.A. Inc., TRW Deutschland Holding GMBH, TRW Automotive Holdings Corp. (collectively, “Defendants”), suppliers of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems (defined below) globally and in the United States, for engaging in a multi-year conspiracy to fix, raise, maintain, and/or stabilize prices, rig bids, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. Defendants’ conspiracy successfully targeted the long-struggling United States automotive industry, raising prices for consumers and car manufacturers alike.

2. Plaintiffs seek to represent classes of consumers who purchased or leased new motor vehicles containing Occupant Safety Restraint Systems or who purchased replacement Occupant Safety Restraint Systems for their motor vehicles during the period from and including March 2006 through such time as the effects of Defendants’ unlawful conduct ceased (the “Class Period”).

3. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems are generally comprised of the parts in an automotive vehicle that protect drivers and passengers from bodily harm. Occupant Safety

Restraint Systems include seat belts, airbags, steering wheels or steering systems, and safety electronic systems.

4. Defendants manufacture, market, and sell Occupant Safety Restraint Systems throughout the United States. The manufacture and sale of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems is a multi-billion dollar industry.

5. Defendants and other co-conspirators (as yet unknown) agreed, combined, and conspired to fix, raise, maintain, and/or stabilize prices, rig bids and allocate the market and customers in the United States of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. Defendants carried out their conspiracy by among other actions agreeing, during meetings and conversations, to allocate the supply of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems on a model-by-model basis. Defendants then sold Occupant Safety Restraint Systems at noncompetitive prices to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

6. Competition authorities in the United States and the European Union have been investigating a conspiracy in the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems since at least February 2011. As part of its criminal investigation, the United States Department of Justice's Antitrust Division ("DOJ") is seeking information about anticompetitive conduct in the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") has participated in raids, pursuant to search warrants, carried out in at least some of the Defendants' offices. The European Commission Competition Authority ("EC") has also conducted investigations at the European offices of several of the Defendants.

7. Defendant Autoliv, Inc. has agreed to plead guilty and pay a $14.5 million fine for its unlawful conduct in conspiring with others to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of, Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at various times from at least as early as March 2006 and continuing until at least February 2011. The combination and conspiracy engaged in by Defendant Autoliv, Inc. and its co-conspirators was in unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

8. As a direct result of the anticompetitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the Classes paid artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems during the Class Period and have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

9. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also assert claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws, and common law unjust enrichment, and seeks to obtain restitution, recover damages and secure other relief against Defendants for violations of those laws. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

10. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337.

11. This Court also has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1367, in that this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interests and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from some Defendants.

12. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this district, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this district, and one or more of the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this district.

13. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over each of the Defendants because each Defendant, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its United States subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this district; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems throughout the United States, including in this district; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this district; or (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to, the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including in this district. Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this district, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States.

14. Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable and intended anticompetitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States.

15. The activities of Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

16. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems manufactured abroad by Defendants and sold for use in automobiles either manufactured in the United States or manufactured abroad and sold in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Occupant Safety Restraint Systems are purchased in the United States, and such Occupant Safety Restraint Systems do not constitute import commerce, Defendants' unlawful activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes in the United States.

17. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, Defendants substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes. Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix or inflate prices of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

18. Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing described herein adversely affected persons in the United States who purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems for personal use, including Plaintiffs and members of the Classes.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Occupant Safety Restraint System Industry

76. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems are generally comprised of the parts in an automotive vehicle that protect drivers and passengers from bodily harm. Occupant Safety

Restraint Systems include seat belts, air bags, steering wheels (or steering systems), and safety electronic systems.

77. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems are installed by automobile original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”) in new cars as part of the automotive manufacturing process. They are also installed in cars to replace worn out, defective or damaged Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

78. For new cars, the OEMs—mostly large automotive manufacturers such as Honda, Toyota, Volvo, and General Motors—purchase Occupant Safety Restraint Systems directly from Defendants. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems may also be purchased by component manufacturers who then supply such systems to OEMs. These component manufacturers are also called “Tier 1 Manufacturers” in the industry. Tier 1 Manufacturers supply Occupant Safety Restraint Systems directly to an OEM.

79. When purchasing Occupant Safety Restraint Systems and related products, OEMs issue Requests for Quotation (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers. Automotive parts suppliers submit quotations, or bids, to OEMs in response to RFQs, and the OEMs usually award the business to the selected automotive parts supplier for the lifespan of the model, which is usually four to six years. Typically, the bidding process for a particular model begins approximately three years prior to the start of production.

80. Defendants and their co-conspirators supplied Occupant Safety Restraint Systems to OEMs for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators manufactured Occupant Safety Restraint Systems (a) in the United States for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, (b) abroad for export to the United States and installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, and (c) abroad for installation in vehicles manufactured abroad for export to and sale in the United States.

81. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems indirectly from one or more of the Defendants. By way of example, an owner of a vehicle may indirectly purchase an Occupant Safety Restraint System from Defendants as part of purchasing or leasing a new vehicle. An owner of a vehicle may also indirectly purchase a replacement Occupant Safety Restraint System from Defendants when repairing a damaged vehicle or where the vehicle's Occupant Safety Restraint System is defective.

82. According to Autoliv's 2011 Annual Report, the global market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in 2010 was $18.1 billion and the North American market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems was $4.2 billion.

83. The global Occupant Safety Restraint Systems market is dominated and controlled by large manufacturers, the top three of which are Defendants who control almost 75% of the market. The Autoliv Defendants account for more than 33% of the global market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems; as Autoliv states in its 2011 Annual Report, it is "the world's largest automotive safety supplier with sales to all the leading car manufacturers in the world.” TRW accounts for approximately 20% of the global market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. And the Takata Defendants account for approximately 20% of the Occupant Safety Restraint Systems global market.

84. By virtue of their market shares, Defendants are the dominant manufacturers and suppliers of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in the United States and the world.

85. Airbags are a type of Occupant Safety Restraint System. Airbags are occupant restraints designed to control the movement of an occupant inside a vehicle in the event of a collision. An Airbag consists of a light fabric air bag, an inflator, which through use of pressurized gas (typically generated by pyrotechnic materials), rapidly inflates the Airbag upon deployment, and an initiator to initiate the deployment. It may also include, depending on the requirements of the vehicle manufacturer, an injection molded plastic decorative cover or other devices associated with the Airbag. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, a typical new Airbag retailed for approximately $1,000 from a car dealer in 2011.

87. According to Autoliv's website, it manufactures more than one-third of the Airbags sold in North America and according to its 2011 10-K, Autoliv manufactures over 40% of the side Airbags and almost 30% of the frontal Airbags sold in the world. TRW and Takata are also major manufacturers of Airbags.

88. Seatbelts are another type of Occupant Safety Restraint System. Seatbelts are safety strap restraints designed to secure an occupant in position in a vehicle in the event of a collision. A Seatbelt includes belt webbing, a buckle, a retractor, and hardware for installation in a vehicle. It may also include, depending on the requirements of the vehicle manufacturer, a height adjuster, a pretensioner, or other devices associated with the Seatbelt.

90. According to Autoliv's website, it manufactures almost one-third of the Seatbelts sold North America, and according to its 2011 10-K, Autoliv manufactures 40% of the Seatbelts sold in the world. TRW and Takata are also major manufacturers of Seatbelts.

91. Steering Wheels are another type of Occupant Safety Restraint System. Steering Wheels consist of a die-cast armature (frame) covered by molded polyurethane. Steering Wheels are then finished with leather, wood trim, or plastic, and may include various electronic features and controls, depending on the requirements of a vehicle manufacturer.

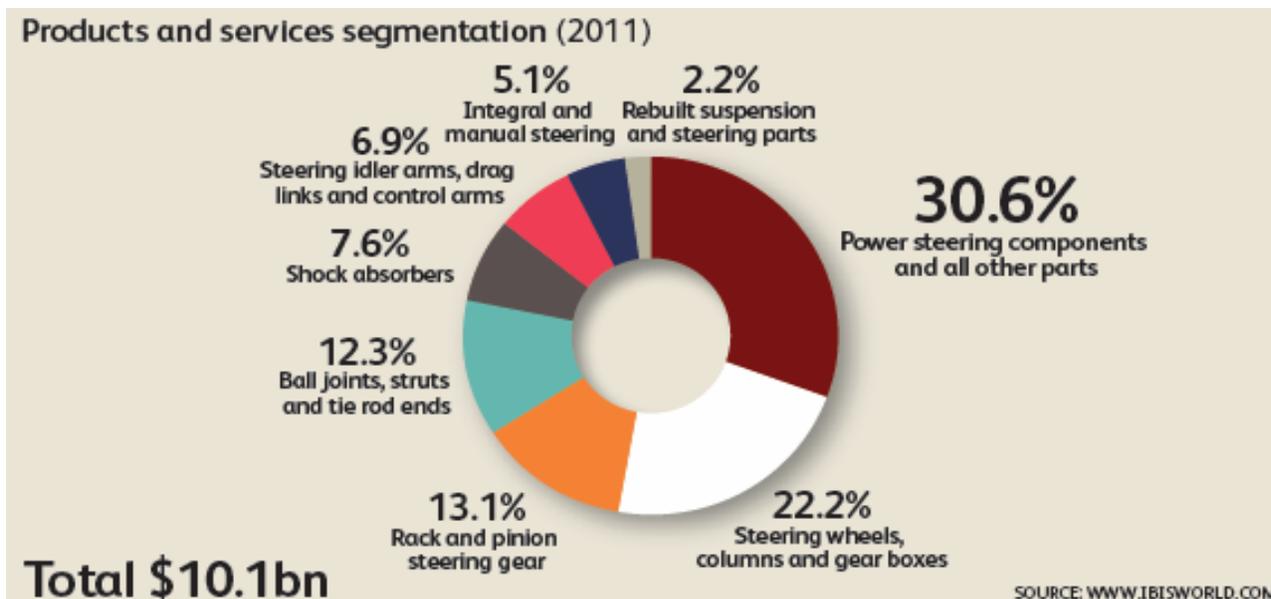

Figure 4.

93. According to its website, Autoliv manufactures more than 15% of the Steering Wheels sold in North America, and in its 2011 10-K, Autoliv states that it manufactures almost 30% of the Steering Wheels sold in the world. TRW and Takata are also major manufacturers of Steering Wheels.

B. The Structure and Characteristics of the Occupant Safety Restraint Systems Market Render the Conspiracy More Plausible

94. The structure and other characteristics of the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in the United States are conducive to a price-fixing agreement, and have made collusion particularly attractive. Specifically, the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems: (1) has high barriers to entry; (2) has inelasticity of demand; (3) is highly concentrated; and (4) is rife with opportunities to conspire.

1. The Occupant Safety Restraint Systems Market Has High Barriers to Entry

95. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supracompetitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

96. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing plants and equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, and long-standing customer relationships.

97. In addition, an OEM cannot freely change its suppliers of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems because OEMs design the features of their vehicles, including the electronics, mechanics, thermal distribution, and other features, so that they may be integrated with a selected Occupant Safety Restraint System. Thus, it would be difficult for a new competitor to enter the market after a vehicle has been specifically designed to be integrated with a particular Occupant Safety Restraint System.

98. Research and development costs are also significant for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, creating an additional barrier to entry. Airbags are constantly researched for better deployment speeds, Seatbelts are constantly researched for better functionality and quality, and Steering Wheels are constantly researched for better precision and rotation.

99. Defendants also own several patents for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. For example, TRW owns Airbag, Steering Wheel and Seatbelt patents. These patents place a significant and costly burden on potential new entrants, who must avoid infringing on the patents when entering the market with a new product.

2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems

100. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

101. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

102. Demand for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems is highly inelastic because there are no close substitutes for these products. In addition, customers must purchase Occupant Safety Restraint Systems as an essential part of a vehicle, even if the prices are kept at a supracompetitive level.

3. The Market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems Is Highly Concentrated

103. A highly concentrated market is more susceptible to collusion and other anticompetitive practices.

104. As discussed above, Defendants dominate the Occupant Safety Restraint Systems market. Three of the Defendants control almost 75% of the global market.

4. Defendants Had Ample Opportunities to Conspire

105. Defendants attended industry events where they had the opportunity to meet, have improper discussions under the guise of legitimate business contacts, and perform acts necessary for the operation and furtherance of the conspiracy. In a June 6, 2012 press release, the DOJ explained that Defendant Autoliv and its co-conspirators met in secret and agreed to allocate the supply of various automotive parts. According to the Autoliv information, Autoliv and its co-conspirators participated in meetings, conversations and communications to discuss and agree on the bids and price quotations to be submitted to certain automobile manufacturers for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, and agreed, during meetings, conversations and communications, to allocate the supply of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold to certain automobile manufacturers on a model-by-model basis.

C. Government Investigations

106. A globally coordinated antitrust investigation is taking place in the United States, Europe, Canada and Japan, aimed at suppliers of automotive parts in general, and Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in particular. The DOJ has confirmed that its auto parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation that the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and the potential volume of commerce affected by the illegal conduct. Almost $1 billion in criminal fines have already been levied against various automotive parts manufacturers.

107. The probe originated in Europe as the result of several European OEMs coming together to bring a complaint to the EC. The EC and the FBI have executed surprise raids at the European and U.S. offices of several auto parts manufacturers, including certain Defendants, as part of an investigation into anticompetitive conduct related to the manufacturing and sale of automotive parts.

108. Defendants Autoliv, TRW, and Takata have admitted that they are cooperating with the antitrust investigators. Autoliv, Inc. stated in its 2011 Annual Report that its subsidiary, Autoliv ASP, Inc., received a grand jury subpoena from the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice on February 8, 2011. “The subpoena requested documents and information as part of a long-running investigation into possible anticompetitive behavior among certain suppliers to the automotive vehicle industry, including Autoliv.” Autoliv, Inc.’s 2011 Annual Report also stated that, on June 7-9, 2011, representatives of the EC visited two facilities of Autoliv B.V. & Co. KG to gather information for a similar inquiry.

109. TRW stated in its 2011 Annual Report that “in June 2011, European antitrust authorities visited certain of our Occupant Safety Systems business unit locations in Germany to gather information. We also received a subpoena related to the Antitrust Investigations in the United States from the U.S. Department of Justice.”

110. On February 23, 2010, investigators from the FBI raided the Plymouth, Michigan offices of Tokai Rika as part of a federal antitrust investigation. Special Agent Sandra Berchtold stated that the affidavits containing facts supporting issuance of the search warrants were filed in federal court under seal.

111. Takata Corp. stated in its 2011 Annual Report that TK Holdings, Inc., a U.S. subsidiary, “became the subject to an investigation conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on February 8, 2011. TK Holdings, Inc. is cooperating fully with the investigation.” Alby Berman, vice-president of marketing and public relations for TK Holdings, Inc., said the subpoena “targeted safety system suppliers – seat belts, air bags, steering wheels and safety electronics – any communications with competitors, and specifically mentioned Tokai Rika” and that the subpoena targeted communications dating back to January 1, 2005. Special Agent Sandra Berchtold, media coordinator for the FBI, confirmed that the FBI raided TK Holdings, Inc.’s Auburn offices.

112. To obtain the search warrant to raid TK Holdings, Inc., the FBI was legally required to have probable cause, accepted by a magistrate, to believe that it would obtain evidence of an antitrust violation as a result of executing the search warrant – that is, the United States had to have evidence sufficient to warrant a person of reasonable caution to believe that raiding the offices of a seemingly lawful business would uncover evidence of antitrust violations and that claimed evidence must have been examined and accepted by a magistrate. That belief, which was recounted in sworn affidavits or testimony, must be grounded on reasonably trustworthy information.

D. Guilty Pleas

113. Defendant Autoliv has pleaded guilty and agreed to pay a total of $14.5 million in criminal fines to a two-count criminal information for fixing the prices of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. Autoliv has admitted to conspiring with others to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at various times from at least as early as March 2006 and continuing until at least February 2011 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. Among other things, Autoliv admitted to

(a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to certain automobile manufacturers for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems;

(b) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, on bids and price quotations to be submitted to certain automobile manufacturers for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems;

(c) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to allocate the supply of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold to certain automobile manufacturers on a model-by-model basis;

(d) submitting bids and price quotations to certain automobile manufacturers in accordance with the agreements reached;

(e) selling Occupant Safety Restraint Systems to certain automobile manufacturers at collusive and noncompetitive prices; and

(f) accepting payment for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold to certain automobile manufacturers at collusive and noncompetitive prices.

The Likelihood of an Amnesty Applicant

114. The Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act (“ACPERA”) provides leniency benefits for a participant in a price-fixing conspiracy that voluntarily discloses its conduct to the Department of Justice. In most recent cases in which guilty pleas for price-fixing conduct have been obtained, there has been a cooperating party that has been accepted into the DOJ’s ACPERA program as an “amnesty applicant.” One of the leniency benefits for a conspirator that is accepted into the ACPERA program is that it is not charged with a criminal offense and is not required to plead guilty to criminal charges.

115. In light of the multiple guilty pleas in this case, in related automotive parts antitrust cases and the DOJ’s ongoing investigation into the industry, it is reasonable for this Court to infer that there is an ACPERA “amnesty applicant” in this case.

H. Additional Criminal Pleadings in the Automotive Parts Industry

116. In addition to Yazaki, five executives from Yazaki (all Japanese nationals) – Tsuneaki Hanamura, Ryoji Kawai, Shigeru Ogawa, Hisamitsu Takada, and Kazuhiko Kashimoto – agreed to plead guilty to their participation in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive wire harnesses sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. These five executives of Yazaki will each pay a $20,000 criminal fine and serve prison time ranging from 15 months to two years. The two-year sentences would be the longest term of imprisonment imposed on a foreign national voluntarily submitting to U.S. jurisdiction for a Sherman Act antitrust violation.

117. In addition to DENSO, several of DENSO's high-ranking executives have pled guilty to criminal price-fixing. For example, Norihiro Imai from DENSO pleaded guilty to his role in the conspiracy to fix prices and rig bids for Fuel Senders. Makato Hattori also pleaded guilty to fixing prices and rigging bids for Fuel Senders.

118. The plea agreements are an outgrowth of the DOJ's initial charges in its ongoing international cartel investigation of price fixing and bid rigging in the automotive parts industry.

119. On September 29, 2011, the DOJ announced that Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd. ("Furukawa") had agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $200 million fine for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of automotive wire harness systems to automobile manufacturers.

120. Three of Furukawa's executives also pleaded guilty to the same conspiracy. The court sentenced two of the executives to 15 and 18 month prison sentences, to be served in the United States.

121. On December 12, 2013, Tokai Rika Co., Ltd. also agreed to plead guilty for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of automotive heating control panels to automobile manufacturers.

122. A number of additional companies have pleaded guilty to fixing the prices in the automotive wire harness, instrument panel clusters, fuel senders, and occupant safety restraint industries. These companies include Fujikura, GS Electech, TRW Deutschland Holding GmbH, Autoliv, Inc., and Nippon Seiki Co. Ltd.

123. The U.S. government has said the case will continue and other suppliers could be charged.

124. Sharis A. Pozen, Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department of Justice's Antitrust Division said there is no doubt consumers were hurt financially: "By rigging bids . . . the three companies inflated what some of their auto manufacturing clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars." Pozen said, "As a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers." "This cartel harmed an important industry in our nation's economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped." In a separate press statement, Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into "pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers"

125. The scheme drove up costs for consumers since the prices were illegally fixed on expensive electrical parts and have risen in cost as cars have become more complex in recent years, Jim Gillette, an analyst with the firm HIS Automotive, said. Gillette estimated that the price-fixing of wire harnesses alone cost carmakers hundreds of millions of dollars.

"This criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan and Europe and has been occurring at least a decade. The conduct had also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold," said FBI's Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena. "When companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States' economic system," Arena also said. "The FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes."

126. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the DOJ's Antitrust Division, discussed DOJ's ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said "[t]he investigation is broader than what we've announced so far [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we've ever encountered. I say biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation." (Emphasis added).

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

127. Plaintiffs brings this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the "Nationwide Class"):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new vehicle in the United States for personal use and not for resale which included Occupant Safety Restraint Systems as component parts, or indirectly purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems as a replacement part, which were manufactured or sold by any Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirator of a Defendant.

128. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of himself and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to the common law of unjust enrichment and the antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws of the states whose laws are identified below (the "Indirect Purchaser States"). These claims are brought by Plaintiffs on behalf of themselves and persons and entities in the Indirect Purchaser States as follows (the "Damages Class"):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new vehicle in the United States for personal use and not for resale which included Occupant Safety Restraint Systems as component parts, or indirectly purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems as a replacement part, which were manufactured or sold by any Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirator of a Defendant.

129. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems directly or for resale.

130. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

131. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of Defendants’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

(a) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold in the United States;

(b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;

(c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;

(d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First Claim for Relief;

(e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust and unfair competition law, and/or state consumer protection law, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for Relief;

(f) Whether Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the Fourth Claim for Relief;

(g) Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

(h) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold in the United States during the Class Period;

(i) Whether Plaintiffs knew, or had any reason to know, of the conspiracy engaged in by Defendants;

(j) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

(k) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and

132. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems purchased indirectly from Defendants or their co-conspirators.

133. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

134. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

135. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in the management of this class action.

136. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

137. Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

(a) Price competition has been restrained or eliminated with respect to Occupant Safety Restraint Systems;

(b) The prices of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels; and

(c) Indirect purchasers of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems have been deprived of free and open competition.

138. During the Class Period, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes paid supracompetitive prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

139. The markets for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems and the market for cars are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems exists to serve the vehicle market. Without the vehicles, the Occupant Safety Restraint Systems have little to no value because they have no independent utility. Indeed, the demand for vehicles creates the demand for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

140. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a vehicle. As a result, Occupant Safety Restraint Systems follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from the Defendants to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, and any costs attributable to Occupant Safety Restraint Systems can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

141. By reason of the alleged violations of the antitrust laws, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or property, having paid higher prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

A. The Statute of Limitations Did Not Begin to Run Because Plaintiffs Did Not And Could Not Discover His Claims

142. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations set forth above.

143. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until the public announcements of the government investigations into price-fixing of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems began in February 2011.

144. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes are purchasers who purchased or leased automobiles or who purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems to replace or repair damaged or defective Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in their automobiles.

145. They had no direct contact or interaction with any of the Defendants in this case and had no means from which they could have discovered the combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before the public announcements of the government investigations began in February 2011.

146. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to the public announcements of the government investigations beginning in February 2011 that revealed sufficient information to suggest that any one of the Defendants was involved in a criminal conspiracy to price-fix and rig bids for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no means of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of Defendants' dealings with OEMs or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that they had engaged in the combination and conspiracy alleged herein.

147. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

B. Fraudulent Concealment Tolloed the Statute of Limitations

148. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations on the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes did not discover, and could not discover through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until the public announcement of the government investigations into price-fixing of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems began.

149. Because Defendants' agreements, understandings and conspiracies were kept secret until February 2011, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes before that time were unaware of Defendants' unlawful conduct, and they did not know before then that they were paying supracompetitive prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems throughout the United States during the Class Period.

150. The affirmative acts of the Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

151. By its very nature, Defendants' anticompetitive conspiracy was inherently self-concealing. Occupant Safety Restraint Systems are not exempt from antitrust regulation, and thus, before February 2011, Plaintiffs reasonably considered it to be a competitive industry. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to begin to investigate the legitimacy of Defendants' Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' prices before February 2011.

152. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged contract, conspiracy or combination at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their contract, combination, or conspiracy.

153. Because the alleged conspiracy was both self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until February 2011, when reports of the investigations into anticompetitive conduct concerning Occupant Safety Restraint Systems were first publicly disseminated.

154. As a result of Defendants' fraudulent concealment of their conspiracy, the running of any statute of limitations has been tolled with respect to any claims that Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

155. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

156. Defendants and unnamed conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

157. The acts done by each of the Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of Defendants' affairs.

158. At least as early as March 2006, and continuing until at least the filing of this Complaint, the exact dates being unknown to Plaintiffs, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

159. The anticompetitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems throughout the United States.

160. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

161. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supracompetitive prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

162. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

163. Defendants' conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

(a) Price competition in the market for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;

(b) Prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and

(c) Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

164. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems purchased indirectly from Defendants and the co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

165. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

166. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class are entitled to an injunction against Defendants, preventing and restraining the violations alleged herein.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Antitrust Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

167. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

168. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a continuing contract, combination or conspiracy with respect to the sale of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce and in violation of the various state antitrust and other statutes set forth below.

169. The contract, combination, or conspiracy consisted of an agreement among the Defendants and their co-conspirators to fix, raise, inflate, stabilize, and/or maintain at artificially supracompetitive prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems and to allocate customers for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in the United States.

170. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

(a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere during which they agreed to price Occupant Safety Restraint Systems at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold in the United States;

(b) allocating customers and markets for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in the United States in furtherance of their agreements; and

(c) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

171. Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the actions described above for the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, maintain, decrease, or stabilize prices and to allocate customers with respect to Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

172. Defendants' anticompetitive acts described above were knowing, willful and constitute violations or flagrant violations of the following state antitrust statutes.

173. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arizona Revised Statutes, §§ 44-1401, et seq.

Defendants, and each of them, have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain prices of, and allocate markets for, Occupant Safety Restraint Systems at supracompetitive levels.

(b) The aforesaid violations of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code, consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among the Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for, Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(c) For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but in no way limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following: (1) Fixing, raising, stabilizing, and pegging the price of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems; and (2) Allocating among themselves the production of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(d) The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had, inter alia, the following effects: (1) Price competition in the sale of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the State of California; (2) Prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, stabilized, and pegged at artificially high, non-competitive levels in the State of California and throughout the United States; and (3) Those who purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems directly or indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefit of free and open competition.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property in that they paid more for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. As a result of Defendants' violation of Section 16720 of the California Business and Professions Code, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek treble damages and their cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, pursuant to Section 16750(a) of the California Business and Professions Code.

(b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of the Defendants constituted "unconscionable trade practices," in violation of N.M.S.A. Stat. § 57-12-3, in that such conduct, inter alia, resulted in a gross disparity between the value received by Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and the prices paid by them for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems as set forth in N.M.S.A., § 57-12-2E.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the Defendants, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(f) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

209. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq.

(a) Defendants agree to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Occupant Safety Restraint Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in New York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(e) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in New York.

(f) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349 (h).

210. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq.

(a) Defendants agree to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Occupant Safety Restraint Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in North Carolina and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of North Carolina consumers in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(e) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Occupant Safety Restraint Systems in North Carolina.

(f) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek actual damages for their injuries caused by these violations in an amount to be determined at trial and are threatened with further injury. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

211. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Rhode Island Unfair Trade Practice and Consumer Protection Act, R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 6-13.1-1, et seq.

(a) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class purchased Occupant Safety Restraint Systems for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Rhode Island, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Occupant Safety Restraint Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Rhode Island.

(c) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business purchaser, Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all purchasers during the Class Period that Defendants' Occupant Safety Restraint Systems prices were competitive and fair.

(d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Rhode Island; (2) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Rhode Island; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(f) Defendants' deception, including their omissions concerning the price of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, likely misled all purchasers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Occupant Safety Restraint Systems at prices born by a free and fair market. Defendants' omissions constitute information important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems they purchased.

(g) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Rhode Island Gen. Laws. § 6-13.1-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

212. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Vermont, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Occupant Safety Restraint Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Vermont.

(b) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business purchaser, Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all purchasers during the Class Period that Defendants' Occupant Safety Restraint Systems prices were competitive and fair.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Vermont; (2) Occupant Safety Restraint Systems' prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supracompetitive, artificially inflated prices for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(e) Defendants' deception, including their omissions concerning the price of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems, likely misled all purchasers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Occupant Safety Restraint Systems at prices born by a free and fair market. Defendants' misleading conduct and unconscionable activities constitute unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Unjust Enrichment
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

213. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

214. As a result of their unlawful conduct described above, Defendants have and will continue to be unjustly enriched. Defendants have been unjustly enriched by the receipt of, at a minimum, unlawfully inflated prices and unlawful profits on sales of Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

215. Defendants have benefited from their unlawful acts and it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the ill-gotten gains resulting from the overpayments made by Plaintiffs or the members of the Damages Class for Occupant Safety Restraint Systems.

216. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the amount of Defendants' ill-gotten gains resulting from their unlawful, unjust, and inequitable conduct. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the establishment of a constructive trust consisting of all ill-gotten gains from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class may make claims on a pro rata basis.

(c) An unlawful combination, trust, agreement, understanding and/or concert of action in violation of the state antitrust and unfair competition and consumer protection laws as set forth herein; and

(d) Acts of unjust enrichment by Defendants as set forth herein.

C. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed under such laws, and that a joint and several judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be entered against Defendants in an amount to be trebled to the extent such laws permit;

D. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed by such laws, in the form of restitution and/or disgorgement of profits unlawfully gained from them;

E. Defendants, their affiliates, successors, transferees, assignees and other officers, directors, partners, agents and employees thereof, and all other persons acting or claiming to act on their behalf or in concert with them, be permanently enjoined and restrained from in any manner continuing, maintaining or renewing the conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein, or from entering into any other contract, conspiracy, or combination having a similar purpose or effect, and from adopting or following any practice, plan, program, or device having a similar purpose or effect;

F. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be awarded restitution, including disgorgement of profits Defendants obtained as a result of their acts of unfair competition and acts of unjust enrichment;

G. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes be awarded pre- and post- judgment interest as provided by law, and that such interest be awarded at the highest legal rate from and after the date of service of this Complaint;

H. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes recover their costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, as provided by law; and
