NATURE OF ACTION

1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. d/b/a KYB Corporation, KYB Americas Corporation (together, “KYB Defendants” or “KYB”), Hitachi Automotive Systems, Ltd., Hitachi Automotive Systems Americas, Inc. (together, “Hitachi Defendants” or “Hitachi”)¹, Showa Corporation, and American Showa, Inc.

¹ For the purposes of this Complaint, the terms “Hitachi Defendants” or “Hitachi” also includes the former Hitachi Automotive Systems Group of Hitachi, Ltd., as it existed prior to July 1, (together, “Showa Defendants” or “Showa”) (all as defined below, and collectively “Defendants”) and unnamed co-conspirators, manufacturers and/or suppliers of Shock Absorbers (defined below) for engaging in a long-running conspiracy to unlawfully fix, artificially raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids for, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Shock Absorbers. According to the United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”), Defendants’ conspiracy successfully targeted the long-struggling United States automotive industry, raising prices for car manufacturers and consumers alike.

2. “Shock Absorbers” are part of the suspension system on automobiles. They absorb and dissipate energy to help cushion vehicles on uneven roads leading to improved ride quality and vehicle handling. Shock Absorbers are also called “dampers.”

3. Plaintiffs seek to represent all persons and entities who, during the period from and including January 1, 1995 through such time as the anticompetitive effects of Defendants’ conduct ceased (the “Class Period”), purchased or leased a new four-wheeled passenger automobile, van, sports utility vehicle, crossover, or pickup truck (“Vehicle”) in the United States for personal use and not for resale which included one or more Shock Absorber(s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by Defendants, any current or former subsidiary of Defendants or any co-conspirator of Defendants.

4. Defendants manufacture, market, and/or sell Shock Absorbers throughout and into the United States. Defendants and their co-conspirators (as yet unknown, though including at least one other company based in Japan) agreed, combined and conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids, and allocate market and customers in the United States for Shock Absorbers.

2009, the former Hitachi Unisia Automotive, Ltd., and the former Tokico, Ltd. On June 20, 2016, the Court finally approved Plaintiffs’ settlement with the Hitachi Defendants in Alternators, Starters, Ignition Coils, Motor Generators, Inverters, Air Flow Meters, Fuel Injection Systems, Valve Timing Control Devices, and Electronic Throttle Bodies. See, e.g., Case No. 2:13-cv-00703, Doc. No. 102.

5. The DOJ's Antitrust Division is currently conducting a broad criminal investigation into illegal price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry. As part of the criminal investigation, the DOJ is seeking information about unlawful anticompetitive conduct in the market for a number of different but related automotive parts, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") has participated in raids, pursuant to search warrants, carried out in the offices of a number of major competitors in the automotive parts industry.

6. The automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and its impact on American consumers and businesses. The ongoing cartel investigation of price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry has yielded, to date more than $2.9 billion in criminal fines.

7. On April 23, 2014, the DOJ announced that Showa Corporation had agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $19.9 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of certain pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies sold to Honda Motor Co., Ltd. and certain of its subsidiaries in the United States and elsewhere.

8. On October 16, 2014, the DOJ announced that Akira Wada, a former executive of Defendant Showa Corporation was indicted for his participation in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate markets and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies sold to Honda Motor Co. Ltd. and certain of its subsidiaries in the United States and elsewhere.

9. On September 16, 2015, the DOJ announced that Defendant KYB agreed to pay a $62 million fine and plead guilty to a criminal Information charging it with participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate the market for, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Shock Absorbers sold to Vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

10. On August 9, 2016, the DOJ announced that Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. agreed to pay at least a $55.48 million fine and plead guilty to a criminal Information charging it with participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate the market for, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Shock Absorbers sold to Vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

11. In 2013, Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. agreed to pay a $195 million fine plead guilty to a criminal Information charging it with participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate the market for, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of starter motors, alternators, air flow meters, valve timing control devices, fuel injection systems, electronic throttle bodies, ignition coils, inverters and motor generators sold to Vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere. At that time, Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. received credit for substantially assisting the DOJ's investigation. In the course of providing that assistance, however, Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. failed to uncover that it had also conspired to fix the price of Shock Absorbers. As a result, when evidence of Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd.'s collusion with other manufacturers of Shock Absorbers was uncovered, the DOJ recommended a substantial increase in Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd.'s criminal fine from the bottom of the Guidelines fine range and also recommend that the court place Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. on probation for three years. These recommendations are consistent with the DOJ's approach in cases where a company fails to uncover the entire scope of its illegal conduct at the time it enters into a plea agreement.

12. Defendants and their co-conspirators participated in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate the supply of, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, Shock Absorbers sold to Vehicle manufacturers and others in the United States and globally. The combination and conspiracy engaged in by Defendants and their co-conspirators was an unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, and state antitrust, unfair competition, consumer protection, and unjust enrichment laws.

13. As a direct result of the anticompetitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the Classes (as defined below) paid artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers during the Class Period and have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

14. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also assert claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, consumer protection, and unjust enrichment laws, and seek to obtain restitution, recover damages and secure other relief against Defendants for violations of those state laws. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

15. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1367, in that: (1) this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from some Defendants; and (2) Plaintiffs' state law claims form part of the same case or controversy as their federal claims under Article III of the United States Constitution.

16. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this District, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this District, and one or more Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, and are found to transact business in this District.

17. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over Defendants because Defendants each, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this District; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Shock Absorbers throughout the United States, including in this District; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this District; and (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including in this District. Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this jurisdiction, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States.

18. Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable and intended anticompetitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States.

19. The activities of Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

20. Shock Absorbers manufactured abroad by Defendants and sold for use in Vehicles in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Shock Absorbers are purchased in the United States, and such Shock Absorbers do not constitute import commerce, Defendants' activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes in the United States.

21. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, Defendants' unlawful activities substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes. Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Shock Absorbers, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Shock Absorbers.

22. Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing described herein adversely affected persons in the United States who purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the United States not for resale which included one or more Shock Absorbers.

PARTIES

Plaintiffs

23. Plaintiff Ifeoma Adams is a California resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

24. Plaintiff Halley Ascher is a District of Columbia resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

25. Plaintiff Gregory Asken is a Nevada resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

26. Plaintiff Melissa Barron is a California resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

27. Plaintiff Kimberly Bennett is an Arkansas resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

28. Plaintiff David Bernstein is a Minnesota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

29. Plaintiff Ron Blau is a Massachusetts resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

30. Plaintiff Tenisha Burgos is a New York resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

31. Plaintiff Kent Busek is a North Dakota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

32. Plaintiff Jennifer Chase is an Iowa resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

33. Plaintiff Rita Cornish is a Utah resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

34. Plaintiff Nathan Croom is a Nebraska resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

35. Plaintiff Lori Curtis is a Missouri resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

36. Plaintiff Jessica DeCastro is a Missouri resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

37. Plaintiff Theresia Dillard is a Mississippi resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

38. Plaintiff Alena Farrell is a Vermont resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

39. Plaintiff Jane Fitzgerald is a Vermont resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

40. Plaintiff Carroll Gibbs is a District of Columbia resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

41. Plaintiff Dori Gilels is a Montana resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

42. Plaintiff Jason Grala is a New York resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

43. Plaintiff Ian Groves is a New Mexico resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

44. Plaintiff Curtis Gunnerson is a Minnesota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

45. Plaintiff Tom Halverson is an Arizona resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

46. Plaintiff Curtis Harr is a North Dakota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

47. Plaintiff Andrew Hedlund is a South Carolina resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

48. Plaintiff Gary Arthur Herr is a Florida resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

49. Plaintiff John Hollingsworth is a California resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

50. Plaintiff Carol Ann Kashishian is a Wisconsin resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

51. Plaintiff Elizabeth Kaufman is a Florida resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

52. Plaintiff Robert Klingler is a Missouri resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

53. Plaintiff Kelly Klosterman is a North Dakota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

54. Plaintiff James Marean is a Maine resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

55. Plaintiff Michelle McGinn is a Nevada resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

56. Plaintiff Rebecca Lynn Morrow is an Arizona resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

57. Plaintiff Edward T. Muscara is a New Hampshire resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

58. Plaintiff Stacey Nickell is a West Virginia resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

59. Plaintiff Sophie O'Keefe-Zelman is an Arizona resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

60. Plaintiff Roger Olson is a Michigan resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

61. Plaintiff William Picotte is a former South Dakota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

62. Plaintiff Whitney Porter is a District of Columbia resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

63. Plaintiff Cindy Prince is a Hawaii resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant while a resident of Langlois, Oregon.

64. Plaintiff Janne Rice is a West Virginia resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

65. Plaintiff Robert Rice, Jr. is a West Virginia resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

66. Plaintiff Frances Gammell-Roach is a Rhode Island resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

67. Plaintiff Darrel Senior is a Kansas resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

68. Plaintiff Meetesh Shah is a California resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

69. Plaintiff Darcy Sherman is a Minnesota resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

70. Plaintiff Erica Shoaf is an Arizona resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

71. Plaintiff Arthur Stukey is a Vermont resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

72. Plaintiff Kathleen Tawney is a North Carolina resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

73. Plaintiff Jane Taylor is a Hawaii resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

74. Plaintiff Keith Uehara is a Hawaii resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

75. Plaintiff Michael Wick is a New Mexico resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

76. Plaintiff Phillip Young is a Tennessee resident who purchased at least one Shock Absorber indirectly from at least one Defendant.

Defendants

77. When Plaintiffs refer to a corporate family or companies by a single name in the Complaint, they are alleging that one or more employees or agents of entities within that corporate family engaged in conspiratorial acts on behalf of every company in that family. The individual participants in the conspiratorial acts did not always know the corporate affiliation of their counterparts, nor did they distinguish between the entities within a corporate family. The individual participants entered into agreements on behalf of their respective corporate families. As a result, those agents represented the entire corporate family with respect to such conduct, and the corporate family was party to the agreements that those agents reached.

Kayaba Industry Defendants

78. Defendant Kayaba Industry Co. Ltd., d/b/a KYB Corporation is a Japanese corporation with its primary place of business in Tokyo, Japan. KYB is the world's largest manufacturer of Shock Absorbers. KYB – directly and/or through its subsidiaries, which it wholly owned and/or controlled – manufactured, marketed and/or sold Shock Absorbers that were sold and purchased throughout the United States, including in this District, during the Class Period.

79. Defendant KYB Americas Corporation is an Indiana corporation with its principal place of business in Greenwood, Indiana. It is a subsidiary of, and wholly owned and/or controlled by, its Japanese parent, Kayaba Industry Co. Ltd., d/b/a KYB Corporation. Defendant KYB Americas Corporation manufactured, marketed and/or sold Shock Absorbers that were sold and purchased throughout the United States, including in this District, during the Class Period. At all times during the Class Period, its activities in the United States were under the control and direction of its Japanese parent.

Hitachi Defendants

80. Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems, Ltd. is a Japanese corporation with its principal place of business in Tokyo, Japan. Hitachi Automotive Systems, Ltd. – directly and/or through its subsidiaries, which it wholly owned and/or controlled – manufactured, marketed and/or sold Shock Absorbers that were sold and purchased throughout the United States, including in this District, during the Class Period.

81. Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Americas, Inc. is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Harrodsburg, Kentucky. It is a subsidiary of and wholly owned and/or controlled by its parent, Hitachi Automotive Systems, Ltd. Hitachi Automotive Systems Americas, Inc. manufactured, marketed and/or sold Shock Absorbers that were sold and purchased throughout the United States, including in this District, during the Class Period. At all times during the Class Period, its activities in the United States were under the control and direction of its Japanese parent.

Showa Defendants

82. Defendant Showa Corporation is a Japanese company with its principal place of business in Saitama, Japan. Showa Corporation – directly and/or through its subsidiaries, which it wholly owned and/or controlled – manufactured, marketed and/or sold Shock Absorbers that were purchased throughout the United States, including in this District, during the Class Period.

83. Defendant American Showa, Inc. is an Ohio corporation with its principal place of business in Sunbury, Ohio. It is a subsidiary of and wholly owned and/or controlled by its parent, Showa Corporation. Defendant American Showa, Inc. – directly and/or through its subsidiaries, which it wholly owned and/or controlled – manufactured, marketed and/or sold Shock Absorbers that were purchased throughout the United States, including in this District, during the Class Period.

AGENTS AND CO-CONSPIRATORS

1. Each Defendant acted as the principal of, or agent for, the other Defendant and the unnamed co-conspirators with respect to the acts, violations, and common course of conduct alleged herein.

2. Various persons, partnerships, sole proprietors, firms, corporations and individuals not named as defendants in this lawsuit, and individuals, the identities of which are presently unknown, have participated as co-conspirators with Defendants in the offenses alleged in this Complaint, and have performed acts and made statements in furtherance of the conspiracy or in furtherance of the anticompetitive conduct.

3. Whenever in this Complaint reference is made to any act, deed or transaction of any corporation or limited liability entity, the allegation means that the corporation or limited liability entity engaged in the act, deed or transaction by or through its officers, directors, agents, employees or representatives while they were actively engaged in the management, direction, control or transaction of the corporation's or limited liability entity's business or affairs.

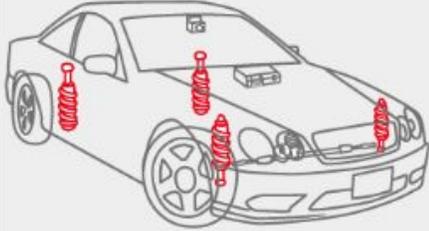

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Shock Absorbers Industry

4. Shock Absorbers are hydraulic or mechanical parts of automobile suspension systems. They are installed between the body frame of an automobile and the tires, and along with springs, they absorb and dissipate vibration generated during a drive.

5. KYB is the world's largest manufacturer of Shock Absorbers. According to KYB's website, one in five Shock Absorbers installed in vehicles worldwide are KYB Shock Absorbers. A diagram showing the location of Shock Absorbers, and a list of the major KYB Shock Absorber products is below:

KYB SHOCK ABSORBERS

Major Products

Load Sensitive Shock Absorbers
These shocks switch the damping force based on the loaded state to maintain a comfortable ride and steering stability at all times.

High performance monotube gas shock absorbers
Our performance shock absorbers provide a higher class of ride comfort and steering stability.

Semi-Active Air Suspensions
Damping force of SA is controlled in real time and steplessly by the G sensor, which continuously monitors vehicle behavior.

HARMOFREQ (frequency dependent shock absorbers)
Automatically changes damping force in response to the frequency of road vibrations traveling through the car body for remarkable increases in ride comfort.

Adjustable damping shock absorbers with proportional solenoid
Continuously controls from softer to harder modes for shock absorber damping force.

6. Hitachi and Showa are some of the top global suppliers of automotive parts to original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”). In 2016, Hitachi was ranked no. 26 and Showa was ranked no. 79 based on sales of original equipment parts in 2015 by Automotive News.² Hitachi's automotive products consists of engine management, electric powertrain, and drive control products, the latter of which includes Shock Absorbers. Below is a diagram illustrating the different types of Hitachi Shock Absorbers and their features:

Double-tubed shock absorber with a function as part of the support structure of the suspension. Like the double wishbone type, it is a shock absorber filled with low-pressure nitrogen gas that is supple and provides stable riding comfort.

High rigidity inverted type

Structurally, this is a single-tube type placed upside down. In case of struts bears a heavy load from the vehicle body, however, this type of shock absorbers with large-diameter pipe provide sufficient rigidity.

Separately mounted spring (rigid axle, etc.)

Unit damper

Because the spring is mounted separately, this type features a simple structure comprised of a damping mechanism only.

8. Shock Absorbers are installed by OEMs in Vehicles as part of the automotive manufacturing process.

9. For Vehicles, the OEMs purchase Shock Absorbers directly from Defendants. Shock Absorbers may also be purchased by component manufacturers who then supply such systems to OEMs. These component manufacturers are also called “Tier 1 Manufacturers” in the industry. Tier 1 Manufacturers supply Shock Absorbers directly to an OEM.

10. When purchasing Shock Absorbers, OEMs issue Requests for Quotation (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers on a model-by-model basis for model specific parts. Automotive parts suppliers submit quotations, or bids, to OEMs in response to RFQs, and the OEMs usually award the business to the selected automotive parts supplier for the lifespan of the model, which is usually four to six years. Typically, the bidding process for a particular model begins approximately three years prior to the start of production. OEMs procure Shock Absorbers and other parts for U.S.-manufactured Vehicles in the United States and elsewhere.

11. Defendants and their co-conspirators supplied Shock Absorbers to OEMs for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators manufactured and designed Shock Absorbers: (a) in the United States for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States; (b) in Japan and elsewhere for export to the United States and installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States; and (c) in Japan and elsewhere for installation in Vehicles manufactured in Japan and elsewhere, some of which were then delivered and sold in the United States.

12. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Shock Absorbers indirectly from Defendants. By way of example, an owner of a Vehicle may indirectly purchase one or more Shock Absorber(s) from Defendants or their co-conspirators as part of purchasing or leasing a new Vehicle.

B. The Structure and Characteristics of the Shock Absorbers Market Render the Conspiracy More Plausible

13. The United States market for Shock Absorbers is conducive to a price-fixing agreement and has made collusion particularly attractive in this market because of its structure and other characteristics. Specifically, the Shock Absorbers market: (1) has high barriers to entry; and (2) has inelasticity of demand.

1. The Shock Absorbers Market Has High Barriers to Entry

14. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely to enter the market. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

15. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the Shock Absorbers market. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing plants and equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, skilled labor, and long-standing customer relationships.

16. Defendants owns multiple patents related to the manufacture of Shock Absorbers. These patents place a significant and costly burden on potential new entrants, who must avoid infringing on the patents when entering the market with a new product.

17. In addition, OEMs cannot change Shock Absorbers suppliers randomly after a supplier is initially selected because the OEMs design the features of their Vehicles so that the Shock Absorbers they purchase for a Vehicle are then integrated with the other components of the powertrain system of the particular Vehicle model. Thus, the design must be synergized by the Shock Absorbers manufacturers and OEMs. It would be difficult for a new market entrant to do so.

2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Shock Absorbers

18. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

19. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues, and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

20. Demand for Shock Absorbers is highly inelastic because there are no close substitutes for these products. In addition, customers must purchase Shock Absorbers as an essential part of a Vehicle, even if the prices are kept at a supra-competitive level.

C. Government Investigations

21. A globally coordinated antitrust investigation is taking place in the United States, Europe, Canada and Japan, aimed at suppliers of automotive parts in general, and Shock Absorbers in particular. A Japan Fair Trade Commission (“JFTC”) official told a leading legal publication that the international automotive parts supplier investigation would continue to widen because the automotive industry as a whole comprises many sub-industries. He characterized the investigation being conducted by international antitrust authorities as “large and broad,” and he declined to deny that this “would be history’s largest case.”

22. The antitrust probe originated in Europe as the result of several European OEMs coming together to bring a complaint to the European Commission (“EC”). The EC and the FBI have executed surprise raids at the European and U.S. offices of several automotive parts manufacturers as part of an investigation into anticompetitive conduct related to the manufacturing and sale of automotive parts.

23. On February 8, 2010, the EC executed surprise raids at the European offices of certain automotive parts makers. The DOJ has confirmed that its automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation that the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and the potential volume of commerce affected by the illegal conduct. To date, as a result of its wide spread investigation, the DOJ has charged over 100 individuals and entities with criminal antitrust violations and the DOJ has levied more than $2.9 billion in criminal fines against various automotive parts manufacturers.

D. Defendant Showa Corporation Pleads Guilty to Bid-Rigging and Price-Fixing Pinion-Assist Electric Powered Steering Assemblies

24. On April 23, 2014, the DOJ announced that Defendant Showa Corporation agreed to pay a $19.9 million criminal fine and to plead guilty to a one-count criminal information charging it with participating in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies sold to Honda Motor Co. Ltd. and certain of its subsidiaries in the United States (collectively, “Honda”) and elsewhere from at least as early as 2007 and continuing until as late as September 2012 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

25. According to the Information filed, Defendant Showa Corporation and its co-conspirators carried out the electric powered steering assemblies conspiracy by:

(a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to Honda in the United States and elsewhere;

(b) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications on bids and price quotations to be submitted to Honda in the United States and elsewhere;

(c) submitting bids and price quotations to Honda in the United States and elsewhere;

(d) exchanging information on bids, price quotations, and price adjustments to be submitted to Honda in the United States and elsewhere, in order to effectuate the agreements;

(e) selling pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies to Honda in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(f) accepting payment for pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies sold to Honda in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(g) engaging in meetings, conversations, and communications for the purpose of monitoring adherence to the agreed-upon bid-rigging and price-fixing scheme; and

(h) employing measure to keep their conduct secret, including, but not limited to, using code names and meeting at remote locations.

26. The Information also stated that that Defendant Showa Corporation and its co-conspirators restricted trade and commerce because they sold substantial quantities of pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies manufactured in the United States and elsewhere in a continuous and uninterrupted flow of interstate and foreign trade and commerce to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers located in various States in the United States and elsewhere outside the place of origin, and that substantial quantities of equipment and supplies necessary to the manufacture and sale of pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies sold by Showa Corporation and its co-conspirators, as well as substantial payments for pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies sold by Showa Corporation and its co-conspirators, traveled in interstate and foreign trade and commerce.

27. The Information further stated that during the relevant period, from 2007 through September 2012, the business activities of Showa Corporation and its co-conspirators, in connection with the manufacture and sale of pinion-assist type electric powered steering assemblies that are the subject of the Information, were within the flow of, and substantially affected, interstate and foreign trade and commerce.

28. Finally, the Information stated that all of its allegations were in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1.

E. Defendant Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. Pleads Guilty to Bid-Rigging and Price-Fixing Shock Absorbers

29. On September 16, 2015, the DOJ announced that Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. d/b/a KYB Corporation agreed to pay a $62 million criminal fine and plead guilty to a criminal Information charging it with participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, Shock Absorbers sold to Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd. (manufacturer of Subaru vehicles), Honda Motor Co., Ltd., Kawasaki Heavy Industries, Ltd., Nissan Motor Company Ltd., Suzuki Motor Corporation, and Toyota Motor Corporation, and certain of their subsidiaries in the United States and elsewhere from as early as the mid-1990s and continuing until at least December 2012 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

30. According to the Information filed, Defendant KYB and its co-conspirators carried out the Shock Absorbers conspiracy by:

(a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and elsewhere to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(b) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, on bids and price quotations to be submitted to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(c) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to allocate the supply of Shock Absorbers sold to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers, on a model-by-model basis, in the United States and elsewhere;

(d) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to coordinate price adjustments requested by the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(e) submitting bids, price quotations, and price adjustments to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in accordance with the agreements reached;

(f) selling Shock Absorbers to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(g) accepting payment for Shock Absorbers sold to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United State and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(h) engaging in meetings, conversations, and other communications in the United States and elsewhere for the purpose of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreed-upon bid-rigging, price-fixing, and market allocation scheme; and

(i) employing measures to keep their conduct secret, including, but not limited to, using code names, meeting at remote locations, and concealing the nature of and participants at conspiratorial meetings.

31. The Information also stated that that Defendant KYB and its co-conspirators restricted trade and commerce because they sold substantial quantities of Shock Absorbers manufactured in the United States and elsewhere in a continuous and uninterrupted flow of interstate and foreign trade and commerce to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers located in various States in the United States and elsewhere outside the place of origin, and that substantial quantities of equipment and supplies necessary to the manufacture and sale of Shock Absorbers sold by KYB and its co-conspirators, as well as substantial payments for Shock Absorbers sold by KYB and its co-conspirators, traveled in interstate and foreign trade and commerce.

32. The Information further stated that during the relevant period, the mid-1990s through December 2012, the business activities of KYB and its co-conspirators, in connection with the manufacture and sale of shock absorbers that are the subject of the Information, were within the flow of, and substantially affected, interstate and foreign trade and commerce.

33. Finally, the Information stated that all of its allegations were in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1.

F. Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. Pleads Guilty to Bid-Rigging and Price-Fixing Shock Absorbers

34. On August 9, 2016, the DOJ announced that Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. agreed to pay at least a $55.48 million criminal fine and plead guilty to a criminal Information charging it with participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, Shock Absorbers sold to Suzuki Motor Corporation, Toyota Motor Corporation, and certain of their subsidiaries in the United States and elsewhere from as early as the mid-1990s and continuing until as late as summer 2011 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

35. According to the Information filed, Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. and its co-conspirators carried out the Shock Absorbers conspiracy by:

(a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and elsewhere to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(b) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, on bids and price quotations to be submitted to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(c) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to allocate the supply of Shock Absorbers sold to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers, on a model-by-model basis, in the United States and elsewhere;

(d) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to coordinate price adjustments requested by the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(e) submitting bids, price quotations, and price adjustments to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in accordance with the agreements reached;

(f) selling Shock Absorbers to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(g) accepting payment for Shock Absorbers sold to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers in the United State and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(h) engaging in meetings, conversations, and other communications in the United States and elsewhere for the purpose of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreed-upon bid-rigging, price-fixing, and market allocation scheme; and

(i) employing measures to keep their conduct secret, including, but not limited to, using code names, meeting at remote locations, and concealing the nature of and participants at conspiratorial meetings.

36. The criminal Information also stated that that Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. and its co-conspirators restricted trade and commerce because they sold substantial quantities of Shock Absorbers manufactured in the United States and elsewhere in a continuous and uninterrupted flow of interstate and foreign trade and commerce to the aforementioned vehicle manufacturers located in various States in the United States and elsewhere outside the place of origin.

37. The criminal Information further stated that during the relevant period, the mid-1990s through summer 2011, the business activities of Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. and its co-conspirators, in connection with the manufacture and sale of Shock Absorbers that are the subject of the Information, were within the flow of, and substantially affected, interstate and foreign trade and commerce.

38. Finally, the Information stated that all of its allegations were in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1.

G. Likely Existence of a Cooperating Defendant

39. The Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act (“ACPERA”) provides leniency benefits for a participant in a price-fixing conspiracy that voluntarily discloses its conduct to the DOJ. In most recent cases in which guilty pleas for price-fixing conduct have been obtained, there has been a cooperating party that has been accepted into the DOJ’s ACPERA program as an “amnesty applicant.” One of the leniency benefits for a conspirator that is accepted into the ACPERA program is that it is not charged with a criminal offense and is not required to plead guilty to criminal charges.

40. In light of the guilty pleas in this case, in related automotive parts antitrust cases and the DOJ’s ongoing investigation into the industry, it is reasonable for this Court to infer that there is an ACPERA “amnesty applicant” in this case.

H. Additional Criminal Pleadings in the Automotive Parts Industry

41. On September 29, 2011, the DOJ announced that Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $200 million criminal fine for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of automotive wire harnesses and related products to automobile manufacturers.

42. In the press release announcing the fine against Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd., Sharis A. Pozen, then the Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the DOJ's Antitrust Division, said that "[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers." Ms. Pozen also stated that "[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation's economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped." The press release also quoted FBI's Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena, who said that "[w]hen companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States' economic system," and that "[t]he FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes."

43. On January 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Yazaki Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $470 million criminal fine and DENSO Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $78 million criminal fine for their respective involvement in multiple price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracies in the sale of automotive parts to automobile manufacturers in the United States. According to the three-count criminal Information filed against Yazaki, it engaged in three separate conspiracies: (i) to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere; (ii) to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, instrument panel clusters ("IPCs") sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere; and (iii) to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of fuel senders sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere. According to the two-count felony charge against DENSO Corporation, it engaged in conspiracies to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of electronic control units (“ECUs”) and heater control panels (“HCPs”) sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

44. In the press release announcing the fines against Yazaki Corporation, its executives, and DENSO Corporation, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into “pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers” In the same press release, Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena said that “[t]his criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan and Europe and has been occurring for at least a decade. The conduct has also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold[.]”

45. Ms. Pozen said there is no doubt consumers were hurt financially by the automotive wire harness price-fixing conspiracy. She stated: “By rigging bids on wiring harnesses . . . the three companies inflated what some of their auto manufacturer clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars.”

46. On April 3, 2012, the DOJ announced that G.S. Electech, Inc. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $2.75 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, speed sensor wire assemblies used on antilock brake systems sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

47. On April 23, 2012, the DOJ announced that Fujikura Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $20 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

48. On June 6, 2012, the DOJ announced that Autoliv Inc. agreed to plead guilty to a two-count criminal Information and to pay a $14.5 million criminal fine for its involvement in a combination and conspiracy to suppress competition in the automotive parts industry by (i) agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, certain seatbelts sold to a Japanese automobile manufacturer; and (ii) agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, certain seatbelts, airbags, and/or steering wheels sold to a Japanese automobile manufacturer.

49. On July 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that TRW Deutschland Holding GmbH agreed to plead guilty and pay a $5.1 million criminal fine for its involvement in a combination and conspiracy, through its employees, including high level employees of its wholly-owned subsidiaries, to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of seatbelts, airbags and steering wheels sold to two German automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

50. On August 28, 2012, the DOJ announced that Nippon Seiki Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $1 million criminal fine for its involvement in a combination and conspiracy to suppress competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, IPCs sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

51. On October 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Tokai Rika Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $17.7 million criminal fine for its involvement in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, HCPs sold to Toyota Motor Corporation and Toyota Motor Engineering & Manufacturing North America, Inc. in the United States and elsewhere. Tokai Rika also agreed to plead guilty to a charge of obstruction of justice related to the investigation of the antitrust violation.

52. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ's ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said "[t]he investigation is broader than what we've announced so far [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we've ever encountered. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the DOJ's Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ's ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said "[t]he investigation is broader than what we've announced so far [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we've ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation." (emphasis added).

53. On July 16, 2013, the DOJ announced that Diamond Electric Mfg. Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $19 million criminal fine for its involvement in a combination and conspiracy to suppress competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, ignition coils sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

54. In the press release announcing the fine against Diamond Electric Mfg. Co. Ltd., Robert D. Foley III, Agent in Charge, FBI Detroit Division said "[t]hose who engage in price fixing, bid rigging and other fraudulent schemes harm the automotive industry by driving up costs for vehicle makers and buyers."

55. On July 18, 2013, Panasonic Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $45.8 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to fix prices of various automotive parts including high intensity discharge (“HID”) ballasts, switches and steering angle sensors installed in automobiles sold in the United States and elsewhere.

56. On September 26, 2013, nine additional Japanese automotive suppliers agreed to plead guilty to conspiracy charges and pay more than $740 million in criminal fines for their roles in rigging the prices of more than 30 different products:

a) Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $195 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of automotive parts, including, among others, air flow meters, fuel injection systems, electronic throttle bodies, and inverters sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

b) Mitsuba Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $135 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of certain automotive parts sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere. Mitsuba Corporation’s plea agreement defined “automotive parts” to include windshield wiper systems, windshield washer systems, starter motors, power window motors, fan motors, radiator fans, door mirrors, lamps, power seat motors, sunroof, door and tailgate motors, electric power steering motors, electronic throttle motors, horns, automotive electric relays and switches, automotive electric actuators, AC generators, and fuel pumps. Mitsuba also agreed to plead guilty to one count of obstruction of justice because of the company’s efforts to destroy evidence ordered by a high-level U.S.-based executive after learning of the U.S. investigation of collusion in the automotive parts industry;

c) Mitsubishi Electric Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $190 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of certain automotive parts sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere. Mitsubishi Electric Corporation's plea agreement defined "automotive parts" to include AC generators, air bag sensors, electronic control units, exhaust gas recirculation valves, fuel injectors, fuel pumps, HID ballasts, ignition coils, integrated units, keyless entry systems, MAP sensors, purge control valves, starter motors, throttle bodies, variable cam timing, and variable valve timing;

d) Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $14.5 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of compressors and condensers sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

e) T.RAD Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $13.75 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of radiators and automatic transmission fluid warmers ("ATF warmers") sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

f) Valeo Japan Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $13.6 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to allocate the supply of, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of air conditioning systems sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

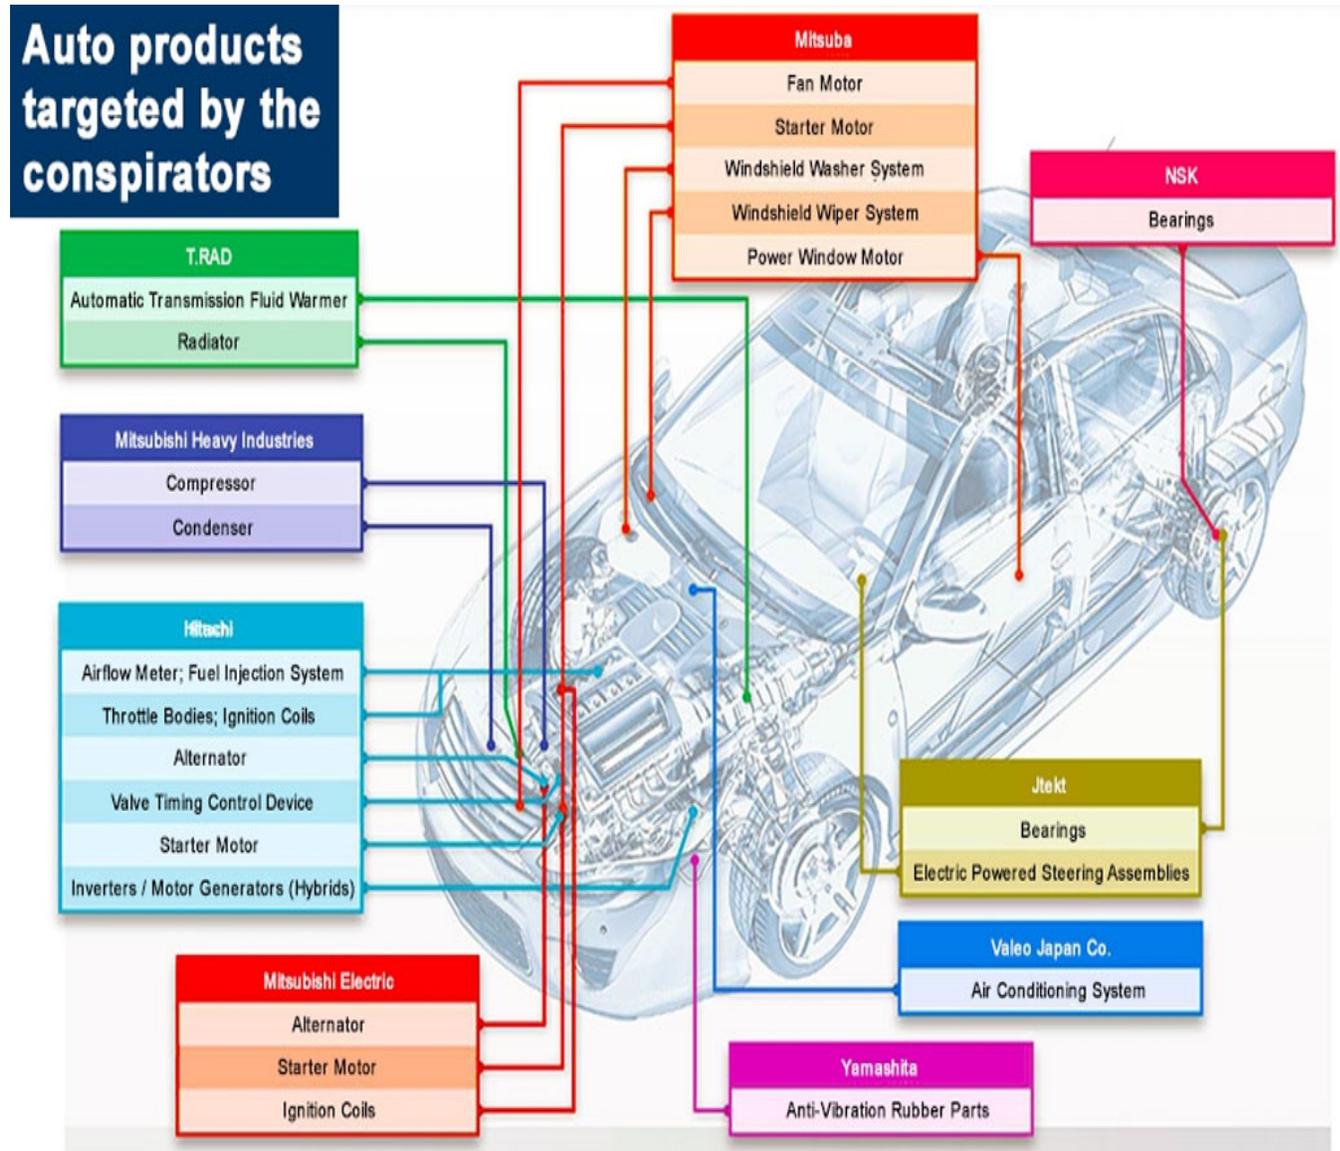

g) JTEKT Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $103.27 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to allocate markets, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of bearings and electric powered steering assemblies sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

h) NSK Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $68.2 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to allocate markets, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of bearings sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere; and

i) Yamashita Rubber Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and to pay an $11 million criminal fine for its participation in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, raise and maintain the prices of automotive anti-vibration rubber products sold in the United States and elsewhere to automobile manufacturers.

57. On the same day, September 26, 2013, then United States Attorney General Eric Holder presented the DOJ's most recent findings in the ongoing automotive parts investigation. He stated "[t]hese international price-fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automotive parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 25 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct." Then Attorney General Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: "[c]ompany executives met face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices and allocate the supply of auto parts sold to U.S. car companies. To keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to." Then Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies "targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars."

58. The diagram below, which was prepared by the DOJ, illustrates the September 26, 2013 guilty pleas and the corresponding automotive parts to which the various manufacturers have admitted price-fixing.

14. On July 20, 2016, the DOJ announced that Nishikawa Rubber Co. Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $130 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive body sealing products sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

15. On August 9, 2016, the DOJ announced that Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $55.48 million fine for its role in the conspiracy alleged herein. According to the DOJ press release, although Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. previously agreed to plead guilty to price-fixing and bid-rigging various automotive parts, it failed to uncover and disclose that it had also conspired to fix the prices of shock absorbers.

16. On September 15, 2016, the DOJ announced that Defendant Alpha Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $9 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive access mechanisms sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

17. On November 8, 2016, the DOJ announced that Usui Kokusai Sangyo Kaisha Ltd. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $7.2 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive steel tubes sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

18. To date, 47 companies and 65 executives have been charged in the Antitrust Division's ongoing investigation into price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry. Of the 47 companies charged, 43 have either pleaded guilty or agreed to plead guilty and altogether, they have agreed to pay more than $2.9 billion in criminal fines.

19. As stated by the FBI's Special Agent in Charge, Andrew G. Arena in a January 30, 2012 press release, "[t]his criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan and Europe and has been occurring at least a decade. The conduct had also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold." As Mr. Arena previously said in a September 29, 2011 press release, "[w]hen companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States' economic system. The FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes."

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

20. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the "Nationwide Class"):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the United States not for resale which included one or more Shock Absorber(s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of Defendants or any co-conspirator of Defendants.

21. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws as well as common law unjust enrichment on behalf of the following class (the “Damages Class”):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the Indirect Purchaser States³ and not for resale which included one or more Shock Absorber(s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by Defendants, any current or former subsidiary of Defendants or any co-conspirator of Defendants.

22. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Shock Absorbers directly or for resale.

23. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

24. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of Defendants’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

(a) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of Shock Absorbers sold in the United States;

(b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;

³ The Indirect Purchaser States are the states included in the Second and Third Claims for Relief.

(c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;

(d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First Claim for Relief;

(e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust, unfair competition, and/or consumer protection laws, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for Relief;

(f) Whether Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the Fourth Claim for Relief;

(g) Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

(h) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of Shock Absorbers sold in the United States during the Class Period;

(i) Whether Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had any reason to know or suspect the conspiracy, or any means to discover the conspiracy;

(j) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

(k) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and

(l) The appropriate class-wide measure of damages for the Damages Class.

25. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers purchased indirectly from Defendants and/or their co-conspirators.

26. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

27. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

28. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in the management of this class action.

29. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

30. Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- (a) Price competition has been restrained or eliminated with respect to Shock Absorbers;
- (b) The prices of Shock Absorbers have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels;
- (c) Indirect purchasers of Shock Absorbers have been deprived of free and open competition; and
- (d) Indirect purchasers of Shock Absorbers paid artificially inflated prices.

31. During the Class Period, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes paid supra-competitive prices for Shock Absorbers. OEMs and automobile dealers passed on inflated prices to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes. These overcharges have unjustly enriched Defendants.

32. The markets for Shock Absorbers and Vehicles are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Shock Absorbers exists to serve the Vehicles market. Without the Vehicles, the Shock Absorbers have little to no value because they have no independent utility. Indeed, the demand for Vehicles creates the demand for Shock Absorbers. As stated in the 2010 Annual Report of Lear Corporation, an automotive parts supplier: "Our sales are driven by the number of vehicles produced by the automotive manufacturers, which is ultimately dependent on consumer and fleet demand for automotive vehicles."

33. Shock Absorbers are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a Vehicle. As a result, Shock Absorbers follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from Defendants to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, and any costs changes attributable to Shock Absorbers can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

34. Just as Shock Absorbers can be physically traced through the supply chain, so can their prices be traced to show that changes in the prices paid by direct purchasers of Shock Absorbers affect prices paid by indirect purchasers of Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers.

35. While even a monopolist would increase its prices when the cost of its inputs increased, the economic necessity of passing through cost changes increases with the degree of competition a firm faces. The OEM and dealer markets for Vehicles are subject to vigorous price competition. The OEMs and Vehicle dealers have thin net margins, and are therefore at the mercy of their component costs, such that increases in the price of components such as Shock Absorbers lead to corresponding increases in prices for Vehicles at the OEM and dealer levels. When downstream distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are in the case of Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers as components, overcharges are passed through to ultimate consumers, such as the indirect-purchaser Plaintiffs and members of the Classes.

36. Hence the inflated prices of Shock Absorbers in Vehicles resulting from Defendants' bid-rigging and price-fixing conspiracy have been passed on to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Classes by OEMs and dealers.

37. The economic and legal literature has recognized that unlawful overcharges in a component normally result in higher prices for products containing that price-fixed component. Two antitrust scholars – Professors Robert G. Harris (Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Business and Public Policy Group at the Haas School of Business at the University of California at Berkeley) and the late Lawrence A. Sullivan (Professor of Law Emeritus at Southwestern Law

School and author of the Handbook of the Law of Antitrust) – have observed that “in a multiple-level chain of distribution, passing on monopoly overcharges is not the exception: it is the rule.”⁴

38. As Professor Jeffrey K. MacKie-Mason (Arthur W. Burks Professor for Information and Computer Science and Professor of Economics and Public Policy at the University of Michigan), an expert who presented evidence in a number of the indirect purchaser cases involving Microsoft Corporation, said (in a passage quoted in the judicial decision in that case granting class certification):

As is well known in economic theory and practice, at least some of the overcharge will be passed on by distributors to end consumers. When the distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are here, all or nearly the entire overcharge will be passed on through to ultimate consumers...Both of Microsoft’s experts also agree upon the economic phenomenon of cost pass through, and how it works in competitive markets. This general phenomenon of cost pass through is well established in antitrust laws and economics as well.

39. The purpose of the conspiratorial conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators was to raise, fix, rig or stabilize the price of Shock Absorbers and, as a direct and foreseeable result, the price of Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers. Economists have developed techniques to isolate and understand the relationship between one “explanatory” variable and a “dependent” variable in those cases when changes in the dependent variable are explained by changes in a multitude of variables, even when all such variables may be changing simultaneously. That analysis - called regression analysis - is commonly used in the real world and in litigation to determine the impact of a price increase on one cost in a product (or service) that is an assemblage of costs. Thus, it is possible to isolate and identify only the impact of an increase in the price of Shock Absorbers on prices for Vehicles even though such products contain a number of other components whose prices may be changing over time. A regression model can explain how variation in the price of Shock Absorbers affects changes in the price of Vehicles. In such models, the price of Shock Absorbers would be treated as an independent or explanatory variable. The model can isolate how changes in the price of Shock Absorbers impact the price of Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers while controlling for the impact of other price-determining factors.

40. The precise amount of the overcharge impacting the prices of Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers can be measured and quantified. Commonly used and well-accepted economic models can be used to measure both the extent and the amount of the supra-competitive charge passed through the chain of distribution. Thus, the economic harm to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes can be quantified.

41. In addition to the regression analysis discussed above demonstrating impact on consumers, the DOJ's Antitrust Division, which has been investigating anticompetitive conduct in the automotive parts industry for some time, has concluded that there is "no doubt" that consumers were hurt financially. Sharis A. Pozen, then Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the DOJ's Antitrust Division, said: "By rigging bids . . . [automotive parts manufacturers engaged in a price-fixing conspiracy] inflated what some of their auto manufacturing clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars." She also explained that "[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers." Ms. Pozen also stated that "[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation's economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped.” In a separate press statement, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into “pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers”

42. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ’s ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said “[t]he investigation is broader than what we’ve announced so far [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we’ve ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation” (emphasis added).

43. On September 26, 2013, then United States Attorney General Eric Holder in the Antitrust Division presented the DOJ’s then most recent findings in the ongoing automotive parts investigation. He stated “[t]hese international price fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automobile parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 24 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct.” Then Attorney General Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: “[c]ompany executives met face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices and allocate the supply of auto parts sold to U.S. car companies. To keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to.” Then Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies “targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars.”

44. On May 25, 2014, news sources reported that Brent Snyder, a deputy assistant attorney general in the Antitrust Division, said with respect to the automotive parts conspiracies, “[i]t’s a very, very safe assumption that U.S. consumers paid more, and sometimes significantly more, for their automobiles as a result of this conspiracy.”

45. By reason of the violations of the antitrust and consumer protection laws alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or property, having paid higher prices for Shock Absorbers than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants’ illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

PLAINTIFFS’ CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

A. The Statute of Limitations Did Not Begin to Run Because Plaintiffs Did Not And Could Not Discover Their Claims

46. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

47. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest) September 16, 2015, the date the DOJ publicly announced that Defendant Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. pleaded guilty to the price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy alleged herein.⁵

⁵ With respect to Defendant Hitachi, Plaintiffs had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest) August 9, 2016, the date that the DOJ announced that Defendant Hitachi Automotive Systems Ltd. agreed to plead guilty to criminal antitrust violations for their role in the conspiracy alleged herein. No information in the public domain was available to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to August 9, 2016 that revealed sufficient information to suggest that Defendant Hitachi was involved in the combination and

48. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes are consumers who purchased or leased Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers. They had no direct contact or interaction with Defendants in this case and had no means from which they could have discovered the combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before September 16, 2015.

49. No information in the public domain was available to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes concerning the combination or conspiracy alleged herein prior to September 16, 2015, the date the DOJ announced that Defendant Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. agreed to plead guilty to a criminal conspiracy to fix the prices of, and rig bids for, Shock Absorbers. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no means of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of Defendants' dealings with OEMs or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that Defendants and their co-conspirators had engaged in the combination and conspiracy alleged herein.

50. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

conspiracy alleged herein. Therefore, with respect to Defendant Hitachi, the statute of limitations did not begin to run because Plaintiffs and members of the Classes did not and could not discover their claims, or in the alternative, because fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations, until August 9, 2016. With respect to Defendant Showa, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest), November 2016, the date that Plaintiffs were provided with confidential information regarding Showa's participation in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to November 2016 that revealed sufficient information to suggest that Defendant Showa was involved in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein regarding Shock Absorbers. Therefore, the statute of limitations did not begin to run because Plaintiffs and members of the Classes did not and could not discover their claims, or in the alternative, because fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations, until November 2016 with respect to Showa.

B. Fraudulent Concealment Tolled the Statute of Limitations

51. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations on the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes did not discover, and could not discover through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until September 16, 2015, the date the DOJ announced that Defendant Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. pleaded guilty to the price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy alleged herein.⁶

52. Before that time, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes were unaware of Defendants' unlawful conduct, and did not know before then that they were paying supra-competitive prices for Shock Absorbers throughout the United States during the Class Period. No information, actual or constructive, was ever made available to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes that even hinted to Plaintiffs that they were being injured by Defendants' unlawful conduct.

53. The affirmative acts of Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

54. Specifically, as then Attorney General Holder explained in connection with the DOJ's globally coordinated investigation into price-fixing in the Automotive parts industry, "[i]n order to keep their illegal conduct secret, Defendant used code names and met in remote locations."

55. By their very nature, Defendants' anticompetitive conspiracy and unlawful combination was inherently self-concealing. Shock Absorbers are not exempt from antitrust regulation, and thus, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes reasonably considered the Shock Absorbers industry to be a competitive industry. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to begin to investigate the legitimacy of Defendants' Shock Absorber prices before September 16, 2015.

56. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged contract, conspiracy or combination at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their contract, combination, or conspiracy.

57. Throughout the course of the conspiracy, Defendants met and communicated in secret in order to conceal their conspiracy from the public and avoid detection thereof. Above and beyond their acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, such as acts of bid rigging, Defendants engaged in surreptitious activity such as using code names, meeting at private residences or remote locations, and concealing the nature of and participants at conspiratorial meetings. The conspirators also coordinated their pricing in a manner to avoid detection by the OEMs. The exact dates and times of these meetings are within the knowledge of Defendants.

58. Because the alleged conspiracy was self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until September 16, 2015, the date the DOJ announced Defendant Kayaba Industry Co., Ltd. pleaded guilty to the criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy alleged herein.

59. For these reasons, the statute of limitations applicable to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims was tolled and did not begin to run until September 16, 2015.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

60. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

61. Defendants' acts, perpetrated as part and in furtherance of the contract, combination, or conspiracy between them and their co-conspirators, were authorized, ordered, or done by Defendants' agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of their affairs.

62. The acts done by Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, themselves and their co-conspirators' contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of their affairs.

63. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Shock Absorbers, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

64. The anticompetitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Shock Absorbers and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Shock Absorbers throughout the United States.

65. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for Shock Absorbers

66. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Shock Absorbers have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supra-competitive prices for Shock Absorbers.

67. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

68. The conspiracy between Defendants' and their co-conspirators had the following effects, among others:

(a) Price competition in the market for Shock Absorbers has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;

(b) Prices for Shock Absorbers sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and

(c) Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased Shock Absorbers indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

69. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Shock Absorbers purchased indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

70. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

71. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class are entitled to an injunction against Defendants, preventing and restraining the violations alleged herein.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Antitrust Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

72. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

73. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a continuing contract, combination or conspiracy with respect to the sale of Shock Absorbers in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce and in violation of the various state antitrust and other statutes set forth below.

74. The contract, combination, or conspiracy consisted of an agreement among Defendants and their co-conspirators to fix, raise, inflate, stabilize, and/or maintain supra-competitive prices the prices for Shock Absorbers and to allocate customers for Shock Absorbers in the United States.

75. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

(a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere during which they agreed to price Shock Absorbers at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to Shock Absorbers sold in the United States;

(b) allocating customers and markets for Shock Absorbers in the United States in furtherance of their agreements; and

(c) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

76. Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the actions described above for the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, maintain, increase, or stabilize prices and to allocate customers with respect to Shock Absorbers.

77. Defendants' anticompetitive acts described above were knowing and willful and constitute violations or flagrant violations of the following state antitrust statutes.

78. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arizona Revised Statutes, §§ 44-1401, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Arizona; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Arizona; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Arizona commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq.

79. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the California Business and Professions Code, §§ 16700, et seq.

(a) During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a continuing unlawful trust in restraint of the trade and commerce described above in violation of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code. Defendants have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain prices of, and allocate markets for, Shock Absorbers at supra-competitive levels.

(b) The aforesaid violations of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code, consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for, Shock Absorbers.

(c) For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following: (1) Fixing, raising, stabilizing, and pegging the price of Shock Absorbers; and (2) Allocating among themselves the production of Shock Absorbers.

(d) The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had, inter alia, the following effects: (1) Price competition in the sale of Shock Absorbers has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the State of California; (2) Prices for Shock Absorbers sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, stabilized, and pegged at artificially high, non-competitive levels in the State of California and throughout the United States; and (3) Those who purchased Shock Absorbers directly or indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefit of free and open competition.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property in that they paid more for Shock Absorbers than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. As a result of Defendants' violation of Section 16720 of the California Business and Professions Code, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek treble damages and their cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, pursuant to Section 16750(a) of the California Business and Professions Code.

80. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the District of Columbia Code Annotated §§ 28-4501, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout the District of Columbia; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout the District of Columbia; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected District of Columbia commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of District of Columbia Code Ann. §§ 28-4501, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under District of Columbia Code Ann. §§ 28-4501, et seq.

81. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Iowa Code §§ 553.1, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Iowa; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Iowa; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Iowa commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Iowa Code §§ 553.1, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under Iowa Code §§ 553.1, et seq.

82. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Kansas Statutes Annotated, §§ 50-101, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Kansas; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Kansas; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Kansas commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Kansas Stat. Ann. §§ 50-101, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under Kansas Stat. Ann. §§ 50-101, et seq.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Hampshire commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of New Hampshire Revised Statutes §§ 356:1, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under New Hampshire Revised Statutes §§ 356:1, et seq.

90. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the New Mexico Statutes Annotated §§ 57-1-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Mexico commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of New Mexico Stat. Ann. §§ 57-1-1, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under New Mexico Stat. Ann. §§ 57-1-1, et seq.

91. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the New York General Business Laws §§ 340, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers when they purchased Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers, or purchased products that were otherwise of lower quality than they would have been absent Defendants' and their co-conspirators' illegal acts, or were unable to purchase products that they would have otherwise have purchased absent the illegal conduct.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New York commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

92. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the North Carolina General Statutes §§ 75-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected North Carolina commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. §§ 75-1, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under North Carolina Gen. Stat. §§ 75-1, et. seq.

93. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the North Dakota Century Code §§ 51-08.1-01, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Dakota; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Dakota; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on North Dakota commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of North Dakota Cent. Code §§ 51-08.1-01, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under North Dakota Cent. Code §§ 51-08.1-01, et seq.

94. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Oregon Revised Statutes §§ 646.705, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Oregon; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Oregon; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on Oregon commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Oregon Revised Statutes §§ 646.705, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Oregon Revised Statutes §§ 646.705, et seq.

95. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the South Dakota Codified Laws §§ 37-1-3.1, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout South

Dakota; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout South Dakota; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on South Dakota commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

96. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Tennessee Code Annotated §§ 47-25-101, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Tennessee; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Tennessee; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on Tennessee commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Tennessee Code Ann. §§ 47-25-101, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Tennessee Code Ann. §§ 47-25-101, et seq.

97. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Utah Code Annotated §§ 76-10-3101, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Utah; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Utah; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on Utah commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Utah Code Annotated §§ 76-10-3101, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Utah Code Annotated §§ 76-10-3101, et seq.

98. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Vermont Stat. Ann. 9 §§ 2453, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Vermont; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on Vermont commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Vermont Stat. Ann. 9 §§ 2453, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Vermont Stat. Ann. 9 §§ 2453, et seq.

99. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the West Virginia Code §§ 47-18-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout West

Virginia; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout West Virginia; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on West Virginia commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of West Virginia Code §§ 47-18-1, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under West Virginia Code §§ 47-18-1, et seq.

100. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Wisconsin Statutes §§ 133.01, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Wisconsin; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Wisconsin; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on Wisconsin commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Wisconsin Stat. §§ 133.01, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Wisconsin Stat. §§ 133.01, et seq.

101. Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class in each of the above states have been injured in their business and property by reason of Defendants' and their co-conspirators' unlawful combination, contract, conspiracy and agreement. Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have paid more for Shock Absorbers than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. This injury is of the type the antitrust laws of the above states were designed to prevent and flows from that which makes Defendants' conduct unlawful.

102. In addition, Defendants have profited significantly from the aforesaid conspiracy. Defendants' profits derived from their anticompetitive conduct come at the expense and detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class.

103. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class in each of the above jurisdictions seek damages (including statutory damages where applicable), to be trebled or otherwise increased as permitted by a particular jurisdiction's antitrust law, and costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to the extent permitted by the above state laws.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Consumer Protection Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

104. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

105. Defendants engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or fraudulent acts or practices in violation of the state consumer protection and unfair competition statutes listed below.

106. Defendants have knowingly entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arkansas Code Annotated, § 4-88-101, et seq.

(a) Defendants knowingly agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed, or obtained in Arkansas and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of Defendants constituted “unconscionable” and “deceptive” acts or practices in violation of Arkansas Code Annotated, § 4-88-107(a)(10).

(c) Defendants’ unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Arkansas; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Arkansas; (3) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(d) During the Class Period, Defendants’ illegal conduct substantially affected Arkansas commerce and consumers.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of Defendants, Plaintiff and the members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(f) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Arkansas Code Annotated, § 4-88-107(a)(10) and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

107. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or fraudulent acts or practices in violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200, et seq.

(a) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Shock Absorbers in California and committed acts of unfair competition, as defined by Sections 17200, et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, by engaging in the acts and practices specified above.

(b) This claim is instituted pursuant to Sections 17203 and 17204 of the California Business and Professions Code, to obtain restitution from these Defendants for acts, as alleged herein, that violated Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code, commonly known as the Unfair Competition Law.

(c) Defendants' conduct as alleged herein violated Section 17200. The acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices and non-disclosures of Defendants, as alleged herein, constituted a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair competition by means of unfair, unlawful, and/or fraudulent business acts or practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code, Section 17200, et seq., including, but not limited to, the following: (1) the violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, as set forth above; (2) the violations of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, set forth above;

(d) Defendants' acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices, and non-disclosures, as described above, whether or not in violation of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, and whether or not concerted or independent acts, are otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful or fraudulent;

(e) Defendants' acts or practices are unfair to purchasers of Shock Absorbers (or Vehicles containing them) in the State of California within the meaning of Section 17200, California Business and Professions Code;

(f) Defendants' acts and practices are fraudulent or deceptive within the meaning of Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code;

(g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class are entitled to full restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business acts or practices;

(h) The illegal conduct alleged herein is continuing and there is no indication that Defendants will not continue such activity into the future;

(i) The unlawful and unfair business practices of Defendants have caused and continue to cause Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class to pay supra-competitive and artificially-inflated prices for Shock Absorbers (or Vehicles containing them). Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class suffered injury in fact and lost money or property as a result of such unfair competition;

(j) The conduct of Defendants as alleged in this Complaint violates Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code; and

(k) As alleged in this Complaint, Defendants and their co-conspirators have been unjustly enriched as a result of their wrongful conduct and by Defendants' unfair competition. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are accordingly entitled to equitable relief including restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business practices, pursuant to the California Business and Professions Code, Sections 17203 and 17204.

108. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and/or non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed or obtained in the District of Columbia.

(b) The foregoing conduct constitutes "unlawful trade practices," within the meaning of D.C. Code § 28-3904. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Shock Absorbers. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Shock Absorbers because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge. Defendants' conduct with regard to sales of Shock Absorbers, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Shock Absorbers at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited

Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between the price paid and the value received for Shock Absorber.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout the District of Columbia; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout the District of Columbia; (3) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorber.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

109. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Florida Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act, Fla. Stat. §§ 501.201, et seq.

(a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Florida; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Florida; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Florida commerce and consumers.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Florida Stat. § 501.201, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

110. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Hawaii Revised Statutes Annotated §§ 480-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Hawaii; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Hawaii; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Hawaii commerce and consumers.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Hawaii Rev. Stat. § 480, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

111. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mass. G.L. c. 93A, § 2.

(a) Defendants were engaged in trade or commerce as defined by G.L. c. 93A.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market which includes Massachusetts, by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed, or obtained in Massachusetts and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorbers price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Massachusetts; (2) Shock Absorbers prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Massachusetts; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were injured and are threatened with further injury.

(e) Defendants will be served with a demand letter in accordance with G.L. c. 93A, § 9, unless, upon information and belief, such service of a demand letter is unnecessary due to Defendants not maintaining a place of business within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or not keeping assets within the Commonwealth. More than thirty days has passed since such demand letters were served, and each Defendant served failed to make a reasonable settlement offer.

(f) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants engaged in unfair competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices, in violation of G.L. c. 93A, § 2. Defendants' violations of Chapter 93A were knowing or willful, entitling Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class to multiple damages.

112. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.010, et. seq.

(a) Plaintiff and members of the Damages Class purchased Shock Absorbers for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Defendants engaged in the conduct described herein in connection with the sale of Shock Absorbers in trade or commerce in a market that includes Missouri.

(c) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact affect, fix, control, and/or maintain, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed, or obtained in Missouri, which conduct constituted unfair practices in that it was unlawful under federal and state law, violated public policy, was unethical, oppressive and unscrupulous, and caused substantial injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(d) Defendants concealed, suppressed, and omitted to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning their unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers. The concealed, suppressed, and omitted facts would have been important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Shock Absorbers they purchased.

(e) Defendants misrepresented the real cause of price increases and/or the absence of price reductions in Shock Absorbers by making public statements that were not in accord with the facts.

(f) Defendants' statements and conduct concerning the price of Shock Absorbers were deceptive as they had the tendency or capacity to mislead Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class to believe that they were purchasing Shock Absorbers at prices established by a free and fair market.

(g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorbers price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Missouri; (2) Shock Absorbers prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Missouri; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(h) The foregoing acts and practices constituted unlawful practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act.

(i) As a direct and proximate result of the above-described unlawful practices, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered ascertainable loss of money or property.

(j) Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Missouri's Merchandising Practices Act, specifically Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.020, which prohibits "the act, use or employment by any person of any deception, fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation, unfair practice or the concealment, suppression, or omission of any material fact in connection with the sale or advertisement of any merchandise in trade or commerce..." as further interpreted by the Missouri Code of State Regulations, 15 CSR 60-7.010, et seq., 15 CSR 60-8.010, et seq., and 15 CSR 60-9.010, et seq., and Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.025, which provides for the relief sought in this count.

113. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Montana Consumer Protection Act of 1973, Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-101, et seq.

(a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Montana; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Montana; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Montana commerce and consumers.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-101, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

114. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed or obtained in New Mexico and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of Defendants constituted “unconscionable trade practices,” in violation of N.M.S.A. Stat. § 57-12-3, in that such conduct, inter alia, resulted in a gross disparity between the value received by Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and the prices paid by them for Shock Absorbers as set forth in N.M.S.A., § 57-12-2E. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants’ price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Shock Absorbers. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Shock Absorbers because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs’ could avoid the overcharges. Defendants’ conduct with regard to sales of Shock Absorbers, including their illegal conspiracy to fix the price of Shock Absorbers at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between the price paid and the value received for Shock Absorbers.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(d) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Mexico commerce and consumers.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of Defendants, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(f) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

115. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed or obtained in New York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) Defendants and their co-conspirators made public statements about the prices of Shock Absorbers and products containing Shock Absorbers that Defendants knew would be seen by New York consumers; such statements either omitted material information that rendered the statements that they made materially misleading or affirmatively misrepresented the real cause of price increases for Shock Absorbers and products containing Shock Absorbers; and Defendants alone possessed material information that was relevant to consumers, but failed to provide the information.

(c) Because of Defendants' unlawful trade practices in the State of New York, New York consumer class members who indirectly purchased Shock Absorbers were misled to believe that they were paying a fair price for Shock Absorbers or the price increases for Shock Absorbers were for valid business reasons; and similarly situated consumers were potentially affected by Defendants' conspiracy.

(d) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Shock Absorbers would have an impact on New York consumers and not just Defendants' direct customers.

(e) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Shock Absorbers would have a broad impact, causing consumer class members who indirectly purchased Shock Absorbers to be injured by paying more for Shock Absorbers than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful trade acts and practices.

(f) The conduct of Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorbers price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) Shock Absorbers prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(h) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Shock Absorbers in New York, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New York commerce and consumers.

(i) During the Class Period, Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Shock Absorbers in New York.

(j) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349 (h).

116. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed or obtained in North Carolina and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy could not have succeeded absent deceptive conduct by Defendants to cover up their illegal acts. Secrecy was integral to the formation, implementation, and maintenance of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy. Defendants committed inherently deceptive and self-concealing actions, of which Plaintiffs could not possibly have been aware. Defendants and their co-conspirators publicly provided pre-textual and false justifications regarding their price increases. Defendants' public statements concerning the price of Shock Absorbers created the illusion of competitive pricing controlled by market forces rather than supra-competitive pricing driven by Defendants' illegal conspiracy. Moreover, Defendants deceptively concealed their unlawful activities by mutually agreeing not to divulge the existence of the conspiracy to outsiders, conducting meetings and conversations in secret, confining the plan to a small group of higher level officials at each company and avoiding the creation of documents which would reveal the antitrust violations.

(c) The conduct of Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of North Carolina consumers in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(e) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Shock Absorbers in North Carolina, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected North Carolina commerce and consumers.

(f) During the Class Period, Defendants directly, or indirectly and through affiliates, dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold, and/or distributed Shock Absorbers in North Carolina.

(g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek actual damages for their injuries caused by these violations in an amount to be determined at trial and are threatened with further injury. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

117. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Rhode Island Unfair Trade Practice and Consumer Protection Act, R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 6-13.1-1, et seq.

(a) Plaintiffs and members of this Damages Class purchased Shock Absorbers for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Rhode Island, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed, or obtained in Rhode Island.

(c) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning their unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business consumer, they breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all consumers during the Class Period that their Shock Absorber prices were competitive and fair.

(d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Rhode Island; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Rhode Island; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(f) Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the price of Shock Absorbers, likely misled all consumers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Shock Absorbers at prices set by a free and fair market. Defendants' affirmative misrepresentations and omissions constitute information important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Shock Absorbers they purchased.

(g) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Rhode Island Gen. Laws. § 6-13.1-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

118. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, S.C. Code Ann. §§ 39-5-10, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combination or conspiracy had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout South Carolina; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout South Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on South Carolina commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of S.C. Code Ann. §§ 39-5-10, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

119. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Vermont by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Shock Absorbers were sold, distributed, or obtained in Vermont.

(b) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning their unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business consumer, Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all consumers during the Class Period that their Shock Absorber prices were competitive and fair.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Shock Absorber price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Vermont; (2) Shock Absorber prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Shock Absorbers.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(e) Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the prices of Shock Absorbers, likely misled all purchasers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Shock Absorbers at prices set by a free and fair market. Defendants' misleading conduct and unconscionable activities constitutes unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9

Vermont § 2451, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Unjust Enrichment
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

120. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

121. Plaintiffs bring this claim under the laws of all states included in the Second and Third Claims, supra.

122. As a result of their unlawful conduct described above, Defendants have and will continue to be unjustly enriched. Defendants have been unjustly enriched by the receipt of, at a minimum, unlawfully inflated prices and unlawful profits on sales of Shock Absorbers.

123. Defendants have benefited from their unlawful acts and it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the ill-gotten gains resulting from the overpayments made by Plaintiffs or the members of the Damages Class for Shock Absorbers.

124. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the amount of Defendants' ill-gotten gains resulting from their unlawful, unjust, and inequitable conduct. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the establishment of a constructive trust consisting of all ill-gotten gains from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class may make claims on a pro rata basis.

125. Pursuit of any remedies against the firms from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class purchased Vehicles containing Shock Absorbers and Shock Absorbers subject to Defendants' conspiracy would have been futile.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Accordingly, Plaintiffs respectfully request that:

126. The Court determine that this action may be maintained as a class action under Rule 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and direct that reasonable notice of this action, as provided by Rule 23(c)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, be given to each and every member of the Classes;

127. That the unlawful conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein be adjudged and decreed:

(a) An unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;

(b) A per se violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;

(c) An unlawful combination, trust, agreement, understanding and/or concert of action in violation of the state antitrust and unfair competition and consumer protection laws as set forth herein; and

(d) Acts of unjust enrichment by Defendants as set forth herein.

128. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed under such laws, and that a joint and several judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be entered against Defendants in an amount to be trebled to the extent such laws permit;

129. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed by such laws, in the form of restitution and/or disgorgement of profits unlawfully gained from them;

130. Defendants, their affiliates, successors, transferees, assignees and other officers, directors, partners, agents and employees thereof, and all other persons acting or claiming to act on their behalf or in concert with them, be permanently enjoined and restrained from in any manner continuing, maintaining or renewing the conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein, or from entering into any other contract, conspiracy, or combination having a similar purpose or effect, and from adopting or following any practice, plan, program, or device having a similar purpose or effect;

131. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be awarded restitution, including disgorgement of profits Defendants obtained as a result of their acts of unfair competition and acts of unjust enrichment;

132. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes be awarded pre- and post- judgment interest as provided by law, and that such interest be awarded at the highest legal rate from and after the date of service of this Complaint;

133. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes recover their costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, as provided by law; and

134. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have such other and further relief as the case may require and the Court may deem just and proper.
