NATURE OF ACTION

1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Tenneco Inc., Tenneco GmbH, Tenneco Automotive Operating Co., Inc. (collectively, “Tenneco”), Bosal Industries-Georgia, Inc., Bosal International, N.V., Bosal Nederland, B.V., Bosal USA, Inc., and Bosal Research, N.V. (together, “Bosal”), Eberspächer Exhaust Technology GmbH & Co. KG, Eberspächer North America Inc. (together, “Eberspächer”), Faurecia Abgastechnik GmbH, Faurecia Systèmes d’Échappement, Faurecia Emissions Control Technologies, USA, LLC, Faurecia Emissions Control Systems, N.A. LLC f/k/a Faurecia Exhaust Systems, Inc. (collectively, “Faurecia”), Meritor, Inc. f/k/a ArvinMeritor, Inc. (“ArvinMeritor”), (collectively,

REDACTED

“Defendants”),<sup>1</sup> and named and unnamed co-conspirators, manufacturers and/or suppliers of Exhaust Systems (defined below) globally and in the United States, for engaging in a long-running conspiracy to unlawfully fix, artificially raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids for, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Exhaust Systems. According to the United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”), Defendants’ conspiracy successfully targeted the long-struggling United States automotive industry, raising prices for car manufacturers and consumers alike.

2. An “Exhaust System” is a system of piping and other parts that conveys noxious exhaust gases away from the passenger compartment and reduces the level of pollutants and engine exhaust noise emitted. An Exhaust System includes one or more of the following components: manifold, flex pipes, catalytic converter, oxygen sensor, isolator/gasket/clamps, resonator assemblies/pipe accessories, and muffler/muffler assemblies.<sup>2</sup> An Exhaust System has a “hot end,” which is the part of the Exhaust System that is mounted to the engine which is generally comprised of a manifold and catalytic converter, and a “cold end,” which is the part of the Exhaust System that is mounted to the underbody of the car which generally contains a muffler, pipes, and possibly a catalytic converter. In some instances, the component parts of an Exhaust System are sourced separately while in other instances they are sourced together.

<sup>1</sup> Plaintiffs entered into settlement agreements with Eberspacher, Faurecia, Tenneco, and ArvinMeritor resolving Plaintiffs’ claims against them in this action. The Court preliminarily approved each settlement. See Exhaust Systems, Case No. 2:16-cv-03803 (E.D. Mich.), ECF Nos. 99, 101, 108, and 118. On August 1, 2018, the Court held a final fairness hearing and granted final approval of the settlements with Eberspacher, Faurecia, and Tenneco. The Court has not yet entered the orders and judgments finally approving these settlements. The remaining non-settling Defendants in this case are accordingly expected to be only the Bosal Defendants.

<sup>2</sup> Plaintiffs do not allege that Defendants engaged in a conspiracy to fix prices, rig bids, and/or allocate markets for catalytic converters or oxygen sensors as stand-alone products.

REDACTED

3. Plaintiffs seek to represent all persons and entities who from at least as early as January 1, 2002 through such time as the anticompetitive effects of the Defendants' conduct ceased ("Class Period") purchased or leased a new four-wheeled passenger automobile, van, sports utility vehicle, crossover, or pickup truck ("Vehicle") in the United States not for resale, which included an Exhaust System as a component part, which was manufactured or sold by the Defendants, any current or former subsidiary of the Defendants, or any-co-conspirator of the Defendants.

4. Defendants manufacture, market, and/or sell Exhaust Systems throughout and into the United States. Defendants, and their co-conspirators (as yet unknown), agreed, combined, and conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Exhaust Systems.

5. The DOJ's Antitrust Division is currently conducting a broad criminal investigation into illegal price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry. As part of its criminal investigation, the DOJ is seeking information about unlawful anticompetitive conduct in the market for a number of different, but related automotive parts, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") has participated in raids, pursuant to search warrants, carried out in the offices of a number of major competitors in the automotive parts industry. The automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and its impact on American consumers and businesses. The ongoing cartel investigation of price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry has yielded more than $2.9 billion in criminal fines.

6. On March 25, 2014, Tenneco publicly disclosed in its 8-K report that it received a subpoena from the DOJ's Antitrust Division related to a global antitrust investigation concerning multiple automotive suppliers. On November 5, 2014, Tenneco publicly disclosed in its 10-Q quarterly report that it reached an agreement with the DOJ's Antitrust Division to grant it conditional leniency in return for Tenneco's self-reporting antitrust violations regarding an unspecified product.

7. The European Commission Competition Authority ("EC") has also conducted dawn raids at the European offices of several of the Defendants because the EC was concerned that companies in the automotive exhaust systems industry may have violated European competition laws.

8. On March 25, 2014, the EC conducted an unannounced raid on Tenneco's Edenkoben, Germany administrative facility. On the same day, the EC conducted unannounced raids on Eberspächer's and Faurecia's respective facilities. Faurecia later confirmed that the investigations relate to suppliers of Exhaust Systems. Tenneco, Eberspächer, and Faurecia each noted in separate statements that their respective companies were cooperating in the EC's investigation.

9. On November 27, 2014, the Competition Commission of South Africa ("CCSA") announced that it filed a complaint against several of the Defendants and the named co-conspirators for price-fixing, market allocation, and big rigging in the market for Exhaust Systems. The CCSA specifically named, among others, Eberspächer Exhaust GmbH & Co. KG, Faurecia Corporation, Tenneco GmbH and Friedrich Boysen GmbH & Co. KG. The CCSA stated that the conduct began around 2001 and is ongoing. The CCSA further noted that the Exhaust Systems affected by the cartel were distributed or supplied in South Africa (1) from an Exhaust System supplier located outside of South Africa for assembly in motor Vehicles manufactured and supplied in South Africa and (2) from an OEM located outside of South Africa which assembles

Vehicles outside of South Africa and then ships the finished motor Vehicle to South Africa for sale.

10. As a direct result of the anticompetitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the Classes (as defined below) paid artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems during the Class Period and have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

11. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also assert claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, consumer protection, and unjust enrichment laws, and seek to obtain restitution, recover damages, and secure other relief against the Defendants for violations of those state laws. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

12. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1367, in that this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from the Defendants.

13. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this District, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this District, and one or more of the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this District.

14. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over Defendants because each, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this District; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Exhaust Systems throughout the United States as a whole, including in this District; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States, including in this District; or (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to, the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including in this District. Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this District, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States.

15. Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial, and reasonably foreseeable and intended anticompetitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States.

16. The activities of Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

17. Exhaust Systems manufactured abroad by Defendants and sold for use in Vehicles in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Exhaust Systems are purchased in the United States, and such Exhaust Systems do not constitute import commerce, Defendants' activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury in the United States.

18. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, Defendants' unlawful activities substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes. Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Exhaust Systems, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Exhaust Systems.

19. Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing described herein adversely affected persons in the United States who purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the United States not for resale which included an Exhaust System.

72. When Plaintiffs refer to a corporate family or companies by a single name in the Complaint, they are alleging that one or more employees or agents of entities within that corporate family engaged in conspiratorial acts on behalf of every company in that family. The individual participants entered into agreements on behalf of their respective corporate families. As a result, those agents represented the entire corporate family with respect to such conduct, and the corporate family was party to the agreements that those agents reached.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Exhaust Systems Industry

92. An "Exhaust System" is a system of piping and other parts that conveys noxious exhaust gases away from the passenger compartment and reduces the level of pollutants and engine exhaust noise emitted. An Exhaust System includes the following components: manifold, flex pipes, catalytic converter, oxygen sensor, isolator/gasket/clamps, resonator assemblies/pipe accessories, and muffler/muffler assemblies. An Exhaust System has a "hot end," which is the part of the Exhaust System that is mounted to the engine which is generally comprised of a manifold and catalytic converter, and a "cold end," which is the part of the Exhaust System that is mounted to the underbody of the car which generally contains a muffler, pipes and possibly a catalytic converter. In some instances, the component parts of an Exhaust System are sourced separately while in other instances they are sourced together.

93. The exhaust manifold is the first part of the Exhaust System to receive burned exhaust from the engine. The exhaust manifold funnels the burned exhaust to the exhaust pipes. The exhaust manifold also burns any fuel that was burned inadequately by the engine before funneling it to the exhaust pipes. The exhaust then passes through the catalytic converter, where any harmful compounds are converted to harmless compounds, and through the resonator and muffler on its way towards the tail pipe, which discharges the burned exhaust away from the Vehicle. The diagram below sets forth a typical Exhaust System.

REDACTED

94. Exhaust Systems have three major functions: (i) to channel waste combustion products outside the engine (ii) to reduce noise generated by the engine; and (iii) to clean emissions that can harm the environment. An Exhaust System is a vital component that is essential for the functioning of a Vehicle engine. Accordingly, the demand for Exhaust Systems is directly linked to the number of Vehicles produced per year.

95. Exhaust Systems are installed by Vehicle original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”) in new Vehicles as part of the automotive manufacturing process.

96. For new Vehicles, OEMs – mostly large automotive manufacturers – purchase Exhaust Systems directly from the Defendants.

97. When purchasing Exhaust Systems, OEMs issue Requests for Quotations (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers. These RFQs may be issued on a model-by-model basis for model-specific parts or for a specific engine to be incorporated into multiple models. Manufacturers of Exhaust Systems submit quotations, or bids, to automobile manufacturers in response to RFQs. Typically, the bidding process for a particular model or a particular engine begins approximately three years prior to the start of production.

98. In a number of instances, Defendants manufacture Exhaust Systems in the U.S. specifically for use in Vehicles sold in the U.S. In those instances where Defendants manufacture

REDACTED

Exhaust Systems abroad, the OEM customer will generally instruct the Defendants to ship Exhaust Systems directly into the U.S. for installation by the OEM in Vehicles sold in the U.S. OEM customers often request that Defendants include the cost of shipping the Exhaust Systems in Defendants' bids. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Because the cost of shipping Exhaust Systems varies depending upon factors such as the location in which the Vehicle will be manufactured, Defendants often know where the Vehicle will be manufactured and sold well in advance of being awarded the business.

Further, Exhaust Systems suppliers typically know whether the Exhaust Systems they manufacture will be installed in Vehicles sold in the United States based on the type of engine for which the Exhaust Systems are being manufactured. Indeed, it is well-known within the Exhaust Systems industry that the vast majority of engines installed in Vehicles sold in the United States are gasoline-powered while nearly half of all engines installed in Vehicles sold in Europe are diesel-powered.<sup>9</sup> [REDACTED] markets for Exhaust Systems, which they knew and intended would be installed in Vehicles sold in the U.S.

103. Defendants and their co-conspirators supplied Exhaust Systems to OEMs for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators manufactured Exhaust Systems (a) in the United States for installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, (b) in Europe and elsewhere for export to the United States and installation in Vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, and (c) in Europe and elsewhere for installation in Vehicles manufactured in Europe and elsewhere for export to and sale in the United States.

104. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Exhaust Systems indirectly from one or more of the Defendants. By way of example, an owner or lessee of a new Vehicle may indirectly purchase an Exhaust System from the Defendants as part of purchasing or leasing the new Vehicle.

105. According to MicroMarketMonitor, the North American Exhaust Systems market is anticipated to grow at a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 9.5 percent from 2014 to 2019, with the United States holding the largest market share. The global demand for Exhaust Systems is propelled by the increasing number of Vehicles across the globe, and the impending stringent fuel efficiency and emission norms. North America holds the second position in the petrol exhaust market for Exhaust Systems as this region has the majority of gasoline Vehicles. The major contributor to the market in the North American region is the United States, which has the largest production of gasoline engines.

REDACTED

106. According to MarketsandMarkets, the Exhaust Systems market is anticipated to grow at a CAGR of 7.07 percent from 2015 to 2020. The global market value for Exhaust Systems is projected to reach over USD 28.6 billion by 2020.

B. The Structure and Characteristics of the Exhaust Systems Markets Render the Conspiracy More Plausible

107. The structure and other characteristics of the Exhaust Systems market in the United States are conducive to a price-fixing agreement and have made collusion particularly attractive in this market. Specifically, the Exhaust Systems market: (1) has high barriers to entry; (2) has inelasticity of demand; and (3) is highly concentrated.

1. The Exhaust Systems Markets Have High Barriers to Entry

108. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely to enter the market. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

109. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the Exhaust Systems markets. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing plants and equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, skilled labor, and long-standing customer relationships.

110. Defendants own several patents related to the manufacture of Exhaust Systems. For example, Faurecia Abgastechnik GmbH is the assignee of U.S. Patent No. 20070131889, a patent for a component of an Exhaust System. These patents place a significant and costly burden on potential new entrants, who must avoid infringing on those patents when entering the market with a new product.

REDACTED

111. In addition, OEMs cannot change Exhaust Systems suppliers randomly after they choose one because the OEMs design the features of their Vehicles so that the Exhaust Systems it purchases for a Vehicle are then integrated with the electronics and mechanics of the particular Vehicle model. Thus, Exhaust Systems manufacturers and OEMs must agree on a design that is unique to a particular Vehicle model. It would be difficult for a new market entrant to do so.

2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Exhaust Systems

112. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

113. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues, and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

114. Demand for Exhaust Systems is highly inelastic. Demand for Exhaust Systems is inelastic because there are no close substitutes for these products. In addition, customers must purchase Exhaust Systems as essential parts of a Vehicle, even if the prices are kept at a supra-competitive level.

3. The Market for Exhaust Systems Is Highly Concentrated

115. A highly concentrated market is more susceptible to collusion and other anti-competitive practices.

REDACTED

116. In 2014, Tenneco reported $2.84 billion in sales in North America for its Clean Air division, which includes sales of Exhaust Systems.

117. In Tenneco's 2014 Annual Report, Tenneco identifies Faurecia, Eberspächer, Bosal and Boysen as its primary competitors in the Exhaust Systems market.

C. Global Government Investigation into Price-Fixing in the Automotive Parts Industry

118. A globally coordinated antitrust investigation is taking place in the United States, Europe, Canada, and Japan, aimed at suppliers of automotive parts in general, and Exhaust Systems in particular. A Japan Fair Trade Commission ("JFTC") official told a leading legal publication that the international automotive parts investigation would continue to widen because the automotive industry as a whole comprises many sub-industries. He characterized the investigation being conducted by the international antitrust authorities as "large and broad," and he declined to deny that this "would be history's largest case."

119. The probe originated in Europe as the result of several European OEMs coming together to bring a complaint to the EC. The EC and the FBI have executed surprise raids at the European and U.S. offices of several auto parts manufacturers as part of an investigation into anticompetitive conduct related to the manufacturing and sale of automotive parts.

120. On February 8, 2010, the EC executed surprise raids at the European offices of certain automotive parts makers as part of an investigation into anti-competitive conduct related to the manufacturing and sale of automotive parts. The DOJ has confirmed that its automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation that the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and the potential volume of commerce affected by the illegal conduct. To date, the DOJ has levied more than $2.9 billion in criminal fines against various automotive parts manufacturers.

REDACTED

121. In February 2010, JFTC raided the Tokyo offices of DENSO Corporation as part of an expansive investigation into collusion in the automotive parts industry dating back to at least 2000.

122. The JFTC raided offices of several automotive parts manufacturers as part of the spreading investigation into suspected price fixing on automotive parts. According to its 2011 Annual Report, DENSO Corporation was investigated on July 20, 2011 at various locations, including in Kariya, Aichi, and some other sales branches in Japan. And according to its 2011 Annual Report, Mitsubishi Electric Corporation has been subject to investigations conducted by the JFTC since July 2011.

123. The DOJ has stated that it is conducting an investigation of potential antitrust activity and coordinating its investigation with antitrust regulators in Europe. “The antitrust division is investigating the possibility of anticompetitive cartel conduct of automotive electronic component suppliers,” DOJ Spokeswoman Gina Talamona said.

124. Indeed, on February 23, 2010, around the same time as the raids by the Japanese and European competition authorities, investigators from the FBI raided three Detroit-area Japanese automotive parts makers as part of a federal antitrust investigation. The FBI executed warrants and searched the offices of these companies. Special Agent Sandra Berchtold said the affidavits supporting issuance of the warrants were sealed in federal court.

125. To obtain search warrants, the United States was legally required to have probable cause, accepted by a magistrate, to believe that it would obtain evidence of an antitrust violation as a result of executing the search warrant – that is, the United States had to have evidence sufficient to warrant a person of reasonable caution to believe that raiding the offices of a seemingly lawful business would uncover evidence of antitrust violations and that claimed evidence must have been examined and accepted by a magistrate. That belief, which was recounted in sworn affidavits or testimony, must be grounded on reasonably trustworthy information.

D. Tenneco is A Cooperating Defendant

126. The Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act (“ACPERA”) provides leniency benefits for a participant in a price-fixing conspiracy that voluntarily discloses its conduct to the DOJ. In many recent cases in which guilty pleas for price-fixing conduct have been obtained, there has been a cooperating party that has been accepted into the DOJ’s ACPERA program as an “amnesty applicant.” One of the leniency benefits for a conspirator that is accepted into the ACPERA program is that it is not charged with a criminal offense and is not required to plead guilty to criminal charges.

127. Tenneco is the ACPERA “amnesty applicant” in this case.

E. Additional Criminal Pleadings in the Automotive Parts Industry

128. On September 29, 2011, the DOJ announced that Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd. had agreed to plead guilty and pay a $200 million criminal fine for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of automotive wire harnesses and related products to automobile manufacturers.

129. In the press release announcing the fine against Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd., Sharis A. Pozen, then the Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the DOJ’s Antitrust Division, said that “[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers.” Ms. Pozen also stated that “[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation’s economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped.” The press release also quoted FBI’s Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena, who said that “[w]hen companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States’ economic system,” and that “[t]he FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes.”

130. On January 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Yazaki Corporation agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $470 million criminal fine and DENSO Corporation had agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $78 million criminal fine for their respective involvement in multiple price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracies in the sale of automotive parts to automobile manufacturers in the United States. According to the three-count criminal Information filed against Yazaki, it engaged in three separate conspiracies: (i) to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere; (ii) to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, instrument panel clusters (“IPCs”) sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere; and (iii) to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of fuel senders sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere. According to the two-count felony charge against DENSO Corporation, it engaged in conspiracies to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, electronic control units (“ECUs”) and heater control panels (“HCPs”) sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

131. In the press release announcing the fines against Yazaki Corporation, its executives, and DENSO Corporation, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into “pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers . . . .” In the same press release, Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena said that “[t]his criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan, and Europe and has been occurring for at least a decade. The conduct had also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold[.]”

132. Ms. Pozen said there is no doubt consumers were hurt financially by the automotive wire harness price-fixing conspiracy. She further stated: “By rigging bids on wiring harnesses . . . the three companies inflated what some of their auto manufacturer clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars.”

133. On April 3, 2012, the DOJ announced that G.S. Electech, Inc. agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $2.75 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, speed sensor wire assemblies used on antilock brake systems sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere.

139. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the DOJ's Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ's ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said "[t]he investigation is broader than what we've announced so far . . . . [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we've ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation." (emphasis added).

He stated "[t]hese international price-fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automotive parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 25 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct." Attorney General Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: "[c]ompany executives met face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices, and allocate the supply of auto parts sold to U.S. car companies. To keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to.” Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies “targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars.”

its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive access mechanisms sold in the United States and elsewhere.

171. On November 8, 2016, the DOJ announced that Usui Kokusai Sangyo Kaisha Ltd. agreed to plead guilty to a one count criminal Information and to pay a $7.2 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive steel tubes sold in the United States and elsewhere.

172. On March 7, 2017, the DOJ announced that Kiekert AG agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $6.1 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of side-door latches and latch minimodules sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

173. On May 31, 2018, the DOJ announced that Maruyasu Industries, Co., Ltd. pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a $12 million fine for its role in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate sales of, rig bids for, and fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive steel tubes in the United States and elsewhere.

174. To date, 48 companies and 65 individuals have been charged in the Antitrust Division's ongoing investigation into price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry. Of the 48 companies charged, 47 have either pleaded guilty or agreed to plead guilty and, altogether, they have agreed to pay a total of more than $2.9 billion in criminal fines.

175. As stated by the FBI’s Special Agent in Charge, Andrew G. Arena in a January 30, 2012, press release, “[t]his criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan and Europe and has been occurring at least a decade. The conduct had also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold.” As Mr. Arena previously said in a September 29, 2011, press release, “[w]hen companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States’ economic system. The FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes.”

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

184. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the “Nationwide Class”):

[REDACTED]

REDACTED

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the United States not for resale which included one or more Exhaust System(s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirators of the Defendants.

185. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws as well as common law unjust enrichment on behalf of the following class (the “Damages Class”):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new Vehicle in the Indirect Purchaser States<sup>12</sup> not for resale which included one or more Exhaust System(s) as a component part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirator of the Defendants.

186. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are the Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Exhaust Systems directly or for resale.

187. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

188. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of the Defendants’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

<sup>12</sup> The Indirect Purchaser States are the states listed in the Second and Third Claims for Relief.

REDACTED

- (a) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain, or stabilize the prices of Exhaust Systems sold in the United States;
- (b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;
- (c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;
- (d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First Claim for Relief;
- (e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust, unfair competition, and/or consumer protection laws, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for Relief;
- (f) Whether the Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the Fourth Claim for Relief;
- (g) Whether the conduct of the Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;
- (h) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of Exhaust Systems sold in the United States during the Class Period;
- (i) Whether Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had any reason to know or suspect the conspiracy, or any means to discover the conspiracy;
- (j) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

REDACTED

(k) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and

(l) The appropriate class-wide measure of damages for the Damages Class.

189. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by the Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems purchased indirectly from the Defendants and/or their co-conspirators.

190. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

191. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

192. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in the management of this class action.

REDACTED

193. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for the Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

194. Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- (a) Price competition has been restrained or eliminated with respect to Exhaust Systems;
- (b) The prices of Exhaust Systems have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels;
- (c) Indirect purchasers of Exhaust Systems have been deprived of free and open competition; and
- (d) Indirect purchasers of Exhaust Systems paid artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

195. During the Class Period, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes paid supra-competitive prices for Exhaust Systems. OEMS and automobile dealers passed on inflated prices to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes. Those overcharges have unjustly enriched Defendants.

196. The markets for Exhaust Systems and Vehicles are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Exhaust Systems exists to serve the Vehicle market. Without the Vehicles, the Exhaust Systems have little to no value because they have no independent utility.

197. Exhaust Systems are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a Vehicle. As a result, Exhaust Systems follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from the Defendants to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, and costs attributable to Exhaust Systems can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

198. Just as Exhaust Systems can be physically traced through the supply chain, so can their prices be traced to show that changes in the prices paid by direct purchasers of Exhaust Systems affect prices paid by indirect purchasers of new motor Vehicles containing Exhaust Systems.

199. While even a monopolist would increase its prices when the cost of its inputs increased, the economic necessity of passing through cost changes increases with the degree of competition a firm faces. The OEM and dealer markets for new motor Vehicles are subject to vigorous price competition. The OEMs and dealers have thin net margins, and are therefore at the mercy of their component costs, such that increases in the price of components such as Exhaust Systems lead to corresponding increases in prices for new motor Vehicles at the OEM and dealer levels. When downstream distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are in the case of new motor Vehicles containing Exhaust Systems as components, overcharges are passed through to ultimate consumers, such as the indirect-purchaser Plaintiffs and members of the Classes.

200. Hence the inflated prices of Exhaust Systems in new motor Vehicles resulting from Defendants' bid-rigging and price-fixing conspiracy have been passed on to Plaintiffs and the other members of the Classes by OEMs and dealers.

201. The economic and legal literature has recognized that unlawful overcharges in a component normally result in higher prices for products containing that price-fixed component. Two antitrust scholars – Professors Robert G. Harris (Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Business and Public Policy Group at the Haas School of Business at the University of California at Berkeley) and the late Lawrence A. Sullivan (Professor of Law Emeritus at Southwestern Law

School and author of the Handbook of the Law of Antitrust) – have observed that “in a multiple-level chain of distribution, passing on monopoly overcharges is not the exception: it is the rule.”<sup>13</sup>

202. As Professor Jeffrey K. MacKie-Mason (Arthur W. Burks Professor for Information and Computer Science and Professor of Economics and Public Policy at the University of Michigan), an expert who presented evidence in a number of indirect purchaser cases involving Microsoft Corporation, said (in a passage quoted in the judicial decision in that case granting class certification):

As is well known in economic theory and practice, at least some of the overcharge will be passed on by distributors to end consumers. When the distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are here, all or nearly the entire overcharge will be passed on through to ultimate consumers...Both of Microsoft’s experts also agree upon the economic phenomenon of cost pass through, and how it works in competitive markets. This general phenomenon of cost pass through is well established in antitrust laws and economics as well.<sup>14</sup>

203. The purpose of the conspiratorial conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators was to raise, fix, rig, or stabilize the price of Exhaust Systems and, as a direct and foreseeable result, the price of new motor Vehicles containing Exhaust Systems. Economists have developed techniques to isolate and understand the relationship between one “explanatory” variable and a “dependent” variable in those cases when changes in the dependent variable are explained by changes in a multitude of variables, even when all such variables may be changing simultaneously. That analysis – called regression analysis – is commonly used in the real world and in litigation to determine the impact of a price increase on one cost in a product (or service) that is an assemblage of costs. Thus, it is possible to isolate and identify only the impact of an increase in the price of Exhaust Systems on prices for new motor Vehicles even though such products contain a number of other components whose prices may be changing over time. A regression model can explain how variation in the price of Exhaust Systems affects changes in the price of new motor Vehicles. In such models, the price of Exhaust Systems would be treated as an independent or explanatory variable. The model can isolate how changes in the price of Exhaust Systems impact the price of new motor Vehicles containing Exhaust Systems while controlling for the impact of other price-determining factors.

204. The precise amount of the overcharge impacting the prices of new motor Vehicles containing Exhaust Systems can be measured and quantified. Commonly used and well-accepted economic models can be used to measure both the extent and the amount of the supra-competitive charge passed through the chain of distribution. Thus, the economic harm to Plaintiffs and class members can be quantified.

205. In addition to the regression analysis discussed above demonstrating impact on consumers, the DOJ, which has been investigating this cartel for some time, has concluded that there is “no doubt” that consumers were hurt financially. Sharis A. Pozen, then Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department of Justice’s Antitrust Division said: “By rigging bids . . . [automotive parts manufacturers engaged in a price-fixing conspiracy] inflated what some of their auto manufacturing clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars.” She also explained that “[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers.” Ms. Pozen also stated that “[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation’s economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped.” In a separate press statement, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into “pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers . . . .”

206. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the DOJ’s Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ’s ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said “[t]he investigation is broader than what we’ve announced so far . . . . [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we’ve ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation.” (emphasis added).

207. On May 25, 2014, news sources reported that Brent Snyder, a deputy assistant attorney general in the Antitrust Division, said with respect to the automotive parts conspiracies, “[i]t’s a very, very safe assumption that U.S. consumers paid more, and sometimes significantly more, for their automobiles as a result of this conspiracy.”

208. By reason of the violations of the antitrust law alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or property, having paid higher prices for Exhaust Systems than they would have paid in the absence of the Defendants’ illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

A. The Statute of Limitations Did not Begin to Run Because Plaintiffs Did Not and Could Not Discover Their Claims

209. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

210. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest) March 25, 2014, the date that Tenneco publicly disclosed in an 8-K report that it received a subpoena from the DOJ's Antitrust Division related to a global antitrust investigation concerning multiple automotive suppliers.<sup>15</sup>

211. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes are businesses and consumers who purchased or leased new Vehicles not for resale. They had no direct contact or interaction with the Defendants and had no means from which they could have discovered the combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before March 25, 2014, the date that Tenneco publicly disclosed in an 8-K report that it received a subpoena from the DOJ's Antitrust Division related to a global antitrust investigation concerning multiple automotive suppliers.

<sup>15</sup> Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of Defendants Bosal, Eberspächer and Faurecia's participation in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein until, at the earliest, May 19, 2015, the date that Plaintiffs were provided with confidential information regarding these Defendants' participation in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein. Further, Plaintiffs did not have any knowledge of facts concerning the involvement of the specific corporate entities within Bosal until, at the earliest, May 7, 2018, the date that a cooperating defendant produced documents to Plaintiffs pursuant to the cooperation provisions in its settlement agreement with Plaintiffs. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to these dates that revealed sufficient information to suggest that the aforementioned Defendants were involved in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein. Therefore, the statute of limitations did not begin to run because Plaintiffs and members of the Classes did not and could not discover their claims, or in the alternative, because fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations, until at the earliest, May 19, 2015 with respect to Eberspächer and Faurecia, and May 7, 2018 with respect to the specific Bosal entities involved in the conspiracy alleged herein. In addition, the Statute of Limitations with respect to Bosal International, N.V. was tolled by agreement from November 2, 2016 through the filing of this complaint.

REDACTED

212. No information in the public domain was available to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes prior to March 25, 2014, the date that Tenneco publicly disclosed in an 8-K report that it received a subpoena from the DOJ's Antitrust Division related to a global antitrust investigation concerning multiple automotive suppliers, that revealed sufficient information to suggest that the Defendants were involved in a criminal conspiracy to fix the prices of and rig bids for Exhaust Systems. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no means of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of Defendants' dealings with OEMs or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that they and their co-conspirators had engaged in the combination and conspiracy alleged herein.

213. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

B. Fraudulent Concealment Tolled the Statute of Limitations

214. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations on the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes did not discover, and could not discover through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until March 25, 2014, the date that Tenneco publicly disclosed in an 8-K report that it received a subpoena from the DOJ's Antitrust Division related to a global antitrust investigation concerning multiple automotive suppliers.<sup>16</sup>

215. Before that time, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes were unaware of Defendants' unlawful conduct, and did not know before then that they were paying supra-competitive prices for Exhaust Systems throughout the United States during the Class Period. No information, actual or constructive, was ever made available to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes that even hinted to Plaintiffs that they were being injured by Defendants' unlawful conduct.

216. The affirmative acts of Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

217. Specifically, as then Attorney General Holder explained in connection with the DOJ's globally coordinated investigation into price-fixing in the Automotive parts industry, "[i]n order to keep their illegal conduct secret, [Defendants] used code names and met in remote locations."

218. By its very nature, the Defendants' and their co-conspirators' anticompetitive conspiracy was inherently self-concealing. Exhaust Systems are not exempt from antitrust regulation and, thus, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes reasonably considered the Exhaust Systems industry to be a competitive industry. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to begin to investigate the legitimacy of Defendants' Exhaust Systems prices before March 25, 2014, the date that Tenneco publicly disclosed in an 8-K report that it received a subpoena from the DOJ's Antitrust Division related to a global antitrust investigation concerning multiple automotive suppliers.

219. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged combination or conspiracy at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their contract, combination, or conspiracy.

REDACTED

220. Throughout the course of the conspiracy, the Defendants met and communicated in secret to conceal their conspiracy from the public and avoid detection thereof. Above and beyond their acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, such as acts of bid rigging, Defendants engaged in surreptitious activity such as meeting at remote locations. The conspirators also coordinated their pricing in a manner to avoid detection by the OEMs. The exact dates and times of these meetings are within the knowledge of the Defendants and the named co-conspirators.

221. Because the alleged conspiracy was both self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until March 25, 2014, the date that Plaintiffs were provided confidential information regarding Defendants' participation in the combination or conspiracy alleged herein.

222. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

223. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

224. Defendants and unnamed co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

225. The acts done by the Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their and their co-conspirators' contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of their affairs.

226. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Exhaust Systems, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

227. The anticompetitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Exhaust Systems and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Exhaust Systems throughout the United States.

228. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the markets for Exhaust Systems.

229. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Exhaust Systems have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supra-competitive prices for Exhaust Systems.

230. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

231. Defendants conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- (a) Price competition in the market for Exhaust Systems has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;
- (b) Prices for Exhaust Systems sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and

(c) Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased Exhaust Systems indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

232. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Exhaust Systems purchased indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

233. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

234. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class are entitled to an injunction against Defendants, preventing and restraining the violations alleged herein.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Antitrust Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

235. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

236. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a continuing contract, combination or conspiracy with respect to the sale of Exhaust Systems in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce and in violation of the various state antitrust and other statutes set forth below.

237. The contract, combination, or conspiracy consisted of an agreement among Defendants and their co-conspirators to fix, raise, inflate, stabilize, and/or maintain at artificially supra-competitive levels the prices for Exhaust Systems and to allocate customers for these products in the United States.

238. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, the Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

REDACTED

- (a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere during which they agreed to price Exhaust Systems at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to Exhaust Systems sold in the United States;
- (b) allocating customers and markets for Exhaust Systems in the United States in furtherance of their agreements; and
- (c) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

239. Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the actions described above for the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, maintain, increase, or stabilize prices and to allocate customers with respect to Exhaust Systems.

240. Defendants' anticompetitive acts described above were knowing and willful and constitute violations or flagrant violations of the following state antitrust statutes.

241. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arizona Revised Statutes, §§ 44-1401, et seq.

- (a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracies had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Arizona; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Arizona; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under Ariz. Rev. Stat. §§ 44-1401, et seq.

242. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the California Business and Professions Code, §§ 16700, et seq.

(a) During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a continuing unlawful trust in restraint of the trade and commerce described above in violation of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code. Defendants, each of them, have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain prices of, and allocate markets for, Exhaust Systems at supra-competitive levels.

(b) The aforesaid violations of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code, consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among the Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for, Exhaust Systems.

(c) For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following: (1) Fixing, raising, stabilizing, and pegging the price of Exhaust Systems; and (2) Allocating among themselves the production of Exhaust Systems.

(d) The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had, inter alia, the following effects: (1) Price competition in the sale of Exhaust Systems has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the State of California; (2) Prices for Exhaust Systems sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, stabilized, and pegged at artificially high, non-competitive levels in the State of California and throughout the United States; and (3) Those who purchased Exhaust Systems directly or indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefit of free and open competition.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property in that they paid more for Exhaust Systems than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. As a result of Defendants' violation of Section 16720 of the California Business and Professions Code, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek treble damages and their cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, pursuant to Section 16750(a) of the California Business and Professions Code.

243. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the District of Columbia Code Annotated §§ 28-4501, et seq.

(a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracies had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout the District of Columbia; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout the District of Columbia; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint of trade in violation of District of Columbia Code Ann. §§ 28-4501, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all forms of relief available under District of Columbia Code Ann. §§ 28-4501, et seq.

244. The Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Iowa Code §§ 553.1, et seq.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Consumer Protection Statutes
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

267. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

269. Defendants have knowingly entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in violation of the Arkansas Code Annotated, § 4-88-101, et seq.

REDACTED

(a) Defendants knowingly agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Arkansas and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

270. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or fraudulent acts or practices in violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200, et seq.

(a) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Exhaust Systems in California, and committed and continue to commit acts of unfair competition, as defined by Sections 17200, et seq. of the California Business and Professions Code, by engaging in the acts and practices specified above.

(b) This claim is instituted pursuant to Sections 17203 and 17204 of the California Business and Professions Code, to obtain restitution from these Defendants for acts, as alleged herein, that violated Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code, commonly known as the Unfair Competition Law.

(c) Defendants' conduct as alleged herein violated Section 17200. The acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices and non-disclosures of Defendants, as alleged herein, constituted a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair competition by means of unfair, unlawful, and/or fraudulent business acts or practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code, Section 17200, et seq., including, but not limited to, the following: (1) the violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, as set forth above; (2) the violations of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, set forth above;

REDACTED

- (d) Defendants' acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices, and non-disclosures, as described above, whether or not in violation of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, and whether or not concerted or independent acts, are otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful or fraudulent;
- (e) Defendants' acts or practices are unfair to consumers of Exhaust Systems (or Vehicles containing them) in the State of California within the meaning of Section 17200, California Business and Professions Code;

- (g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class are entitled to full restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business acts or practices;
- (h) The illegal conduct alleged herein is continuing and there is no indication that Defendants will not continue such activity into the future;
- (i) The unlawful and unfair business practices of Defendants, each of them, have caused and continue to cause Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class to pay supra-competitive and artificially-inflated prices for Exhaust Systems (or Vehicles containing them). Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class suffered injury in fact and lost money or property as a result of such unfair competition.
- (j) The conduct of Defendants as alleged in this Complaint violates Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.

REDACTED

(k) As alleged in this Complaint, Defendants and their co-conspirators have been unjustly enriched as a result of their wrongful conduct and by Defendants' unfair competition. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are accordingly entitled to equitable relief including restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business practices, pursuant to the California Business and Professions Code, Sections 17203 and 17204.

271. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq.

(b) The foregoing conduct constitutes "unlawful trade practices," within the meaning of D.C. Code § 28-3904. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Exhaust Systems. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Exhaust Systems because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs could avoid the overcharges. Defendants' conduct with regard to sales of Exhaust

Systems, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Exhaust Systems at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between the price paid and the value received for Exhaust Systems.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout the District of Columbia; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout the District of Columbia; (3) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Hawaii Rev. Stat. § 480, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

274. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mass. G.L. c. 93A, §2.

(a) Defendants were engaged in trade or commerce as defined by G.L. c. 93A.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market which includes Massachusetts, by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Massachusetts and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

REDACTED

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Massachusetts; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Massachusetts; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were injured and are threatened with further injury.

(e) Certain of the Defendants have or will be served with a demand letter in accordance with G.L. c. 93A, § 9, or, upon information and belief, such service of a demand letter was unnecessary due to the defendant not maintaining a place of business within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or not keeping assets within the Commonwealth. More than thirty days has passed since such demand letters were served, and each Defendant served has failed to make a reasonable settlement offer.

(f) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants engaged in unfair competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices, in violation of G.L. c. 93A, §2. Defendants' and their co-conspirators' violations of Chapter 93A were knowing or willful, entitling Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class to multiple damages.

REDACTED

275. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.010, et. seq.

(a) Plaintiffs and the Damages Class purchased Exhaust Systems for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Defendants engaged in the conduct described herein in connection with the sale of Exhaust Systems in trade or commerce in a market that includes Missouri.

(c) Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact affect, fix, control, and/or maintain, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Missouri, which conduct constituted unfair practices in that it was unlawful under federal and state law, violated public policy, was unethical, oppressive and unscrupulous, and caused substantial injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(d) Defendants concealed, suppressed, and omitted to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems. The concealed, suppressed, and omitted facts would have been important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Exhaust Systems they purchased.

(e) Defendants misrepresented the real cause of price increases and/or the absence of price reductions in Exhaust Systems by making public statements that were not in accord with the facts.

(f) Defendants' statements and conduct concerning the price of Exhaust Systems were deceptive as they had the tendency or capacity to mislead Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class to believe that they were purchasing Exhaust Systems at prices established by a free and fair market.

(g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Missouri; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Missouri; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(h) The foregoing acts and practices constituted unlawful practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act.

(i) As a direct and proximate result of the above-described unlawful practices, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered ascertainable loss of money or property.

(j) Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Missouri's Merchandising Practices Act, specifically Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.020, which prohibits "the act, use or employment by any person of any deception, fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation, unfair practice or the concealment, suppression, or omission of any material fact in connection with the sale or advertisement of any merchandise in trade or commerce..." as further interpreted by the Missouri Code of State Regulations, 15 CSR 60-7.010, et seq., 15 CSR 60-8.010, et seq., and 15 CSR 60-9.010, et seq., and Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.025, which provides for the relief sought in this count.

REDACTED

276. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Montana Consumer Protection Act of 1973, Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-101, et seq.

(a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Montana; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Montana; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Montana commerce and consumers.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-101, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

277. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in New Mexico and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of Defendants constituted “unconscionable trade practices,” in violation of N.M.S.A. Stat. § 57-12-3, in that such conduct, inter alia, resulted in a gross disparity between the value received by Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and the prices paid by them for Exhaust Systems as set forth in N.M.S.A., § 57-12-2E. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants’ price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Exhaust Systems. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Exhaust Systems because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs’ could avoid the overcharges. Defendants’ conduct with regard to sales of Exhaust Systems, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Exhaust Systems at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of competition that has resulted from Defendants’ conspiracy has ultimately resulted in unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between the price paid and the value received for Exhaust Systems.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(d) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Mexico commerce and consumers.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of Defendants, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(f) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

278. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in New York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) Defendants and their co-conspirators made public statements about the prices of Exhaust Systems and products containing Exhaust Systems that Defendants knew would be seen by New York consumers; such statements either omitted material information that rendered the statements that they made materially misleading or affirmatively misrepresented the real cause of price increases for Exhaust Systems and products containing Exhaust Systems; and Defendants alone possessed material information that was relevant to consumers, but failed to provide the information.

(c) Because of Defendants' unlawful trade practices in the State of New York, New York consumer class members who indirectly purchased Exhaust Systems were misled to believe that they were paying a fair price for Exhaust Systems or the price increases for Exhaust Systems were for valid business reasons; and similarly situated consumers were potentially affected by Defendants' conspiracy.

(d) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Exhaust Systems would have an impact on New York consumers and not just the Defendants' direct customers.

(e) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Exhaust Systems would have a broad impact, causing consumer class members who indirectly purchased Exhaust Systems to be injured by paying more for Exhaust Systems than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful trade acts and practices.

REDACTED

(f) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(h) During the Class Period, Defendants' marketed, sold, or distributed Exhaust Systems in New York, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New York commerce and consumers.

(i) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Exhaust Systems in New York.

(j) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349 (h).

279. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq.

REDACTED

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in North Carolina and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy could not have succeeded absent deceptive conduct by Defendants to cover up their illegal acts. Secrecy was integral to the formation, implementation and maintenance of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy. Defendants committed inherently deceptive and self-concealing actions, of which Plaintiffs could not possibly have been aware. Defendants and their co-conspirators publicly provided pre-textual and false justifications regarding their price increases. Defendants' public statements concerning the price of Exhaust Systems created the illusion of competitive pricing controlled by market forces rather than supra-competitive pricing driven by Defendants' illegal conspiracy. Moreover, Defendants deceptively concealed their unlawful activities by mutually agreeing not to divulge the existence of the conspiracy to outsiders, conducting meetings and conversations in secret, confining the plan to a small group of higher-level officials at each company and avoiding the creation of documents which would reveal the antitrust violations.

(c) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of North Carolina consumers in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

(d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) Exhaust System prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(e) During the Class Period, Defendants' marketed, sold, or distributed Exhaust Systems in North Carolina, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected North Carolina commerce and consumers.

(f) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Exhaust Systems in North Carolina.

(g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek actual damages for their injuries caused by these violations in an amount to be determined at trial and are threatened with further injury. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

REDACTED

280. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Rhode Island Unfair Trade Practice and Consumer Protection Act, R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 6-13.1-1, et seq.

(a) Members of this Damages Class purchased Exhaust Systems for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Rhode Island, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Rhode Island.

(c) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business consumer, Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all consumers during the Class Period that Defendants' Exhaust System prices were competitive and fair.

(d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Rhode Island; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Rhode Island; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

REDACTED

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(f) Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the price of Exhaust Systems, likely misled all consumers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Exhaust Systems at prices set by a free and fair market. Defendants' affirmative misrepresentations and omissions constitute information important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Exhaust Systems they purchased.

(g) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Rhode Island Gen. Laws. § 6-13.1-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

281. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, S.C. Code Ann. §§ 39-5-10, et seq.

REDACTED

Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on South Carolina commerce.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of S.C. Code Ann. § 39-5-10, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

282. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq.

(a) Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Vermont by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Vermont.

(b) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning their unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business purchaser, Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all purchasers during the Class Period that their Exhaust System prices were competitive and fair.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Vermont; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by the Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(e) Defendants' deception, including their omissions concerning the price of Exhaust Systems, likely misled all purchasers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Exhaust Systems at prices born by a free and fair market. Defendants' misleading conduct and unconscionable activities constitutes unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Unjust Enrichment
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

283. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

REDACTED

284. Plaintiffs bring this claim under the laws of all states listed in the Second and Third Claims, supra.

285. As a result of their unlawful conduct described above, Defendants have and will continue to be unjustly enriched. Defendants have been unjustly enriched by the receipt of, at a minimum, unlawfully inflated prices and unlawful profits on sales of Exhaust Systems.

286. Defendants have benefited from their unlawful acts and it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the ill-gotten gains resulting from the overpayments made by Plaintiffs of the members of the Damages Class for Exhaust Systems.

287. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the amount of Defendants' ill-gotten gains resulting from their unlawful, unjust, and inequitable conduct. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the establishment of a constructive trust consisting of all ill-gotten gains from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class may make claims on a pro rata basis.

288. Pursuit of any remedies against the firms from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class purchased Vehicles containing Exhaust Systems subject to Defendants' conspiracy would have been futile.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Accordingly, Plaintiffs respectfully request that:

289. The Court determine that this action may be maintained as a class action under Rule 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and direct that reasonable notice of this action, as provided by Rule 23(c)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, be given to each and every member of the Classes;

REDACTED

290. That the unlawful conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein be adjudged and decreed:

- (a) An unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;
- (b) A per se violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;
- (c) An unlawful combination, trust, agreement, understanding and/or concert of action in violation of the state antitrust and unfair competition and consumer protection laws as set forth herein; and
- (d) Acts of unjust enrichment by Defendants as set forth herein.

291. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed under such laws, and that a joint and several judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be entered against Defendants in an amount to be trebled to the extent such laws permit;

292. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed by such laws, in the form of restitution and/or disgorgement of profits unlawfully gained from them;

293. Defendants, their affiliates, successors, transferees, assignees and other officers, directors, partners, agents and employees thereof, and all other persons acting or claiming to act on their behalf or in concert with them, be permanently enjoined and restrained from in any manner continuing, maintaining or renewing the conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein, or from entering into any other contract, conspiracy, or combination having a similar purpose or effect, and from adopting or following any practice, plan, program, or device having a similar purpose or effect;

REDACTED

294. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be awarded restitution, including disgorgement of profits Defendants obtained as a result of their acts of unfair competition and acts of unjust enrichment;

295. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes be awarded pre- and post- judgment interest as provided by law, and that such interest be awarded at the highest legal rate from and after the date of service of this Complaint;

296. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes recover their costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, as provided by law; and

297. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have such other and further relief as the case may require and the Court may deem just and proper.
